In Our HOUSE

By Arthur Mayse

One danger of forensics is that the orator may end his pitch with foot in mouth, and this all but befell a high-spiralled premier and minister of finance on Tuesday evening.

"The rich grow richer," declared The Hon. William Andrew Cecil Bennett, "and the poor...uh...ah..."

"...grow poorer," supplied Cranbrook NDP Leo Nimsick helpfully.

"Everybody richer and nobody poorer," Mr. Bennett finished, his stride recovered. "That's Social Credit philosophy!"

Apart from the one near cotrempers, the premier's sword-dance above his party's trophies was executed with vim and skill enough to elicit a sardonic "Hallelujah!" from one NDP listener, and from North Van logger Liberal Gordon Gibson, a sotto voce growl:

'What a Blast!'

"Judas Priest... what a blast!"

We are into estimates now—the apportioning to departments and services of the thumping $395 million-plus budget. If this third phase of parliament's deliberations moves as expected, members will end their session on March 13, which this year happens to fall with sinister impact upon a Friday.

There is, however, a good deal of troubled water still to flow under the bridge; and before the House rises, we may see what started as a minor issue flare into a major tussle.

This is the projected logging of Strathcona Park's fir stands, a move which a log-hungry plywood industry has urged on a hitherto-resistant government for years.

Unless I miss my guess, the heaviest punch against new parks branch boss Kenneth Kiernan's 'harvesting' plan will be swung by spunky Liberal Leader Ray Perrault.

Best Debater

Now, setting crystal balls aside, let's backtrack for a glimpse of the British Columbia legislature's most effective debater in action.

This is Attorney-General Robert William Bonner, QC, who fetched the budget debate to its close.

From my press gallery corner directly above Mr. Bonner, the foreshortened view reveals a neatly-toussured crown, a band of spotless collar, and notably straight shoulders in a charcoal grey jacket.

The A-G's hands are sometimes clasped behind his coat-tails, sometimes emphasizing a point with disciplined grace. He has one mannerism which I haven't noted elsewhere: his right forefinger is occasionally clasped in his left hand.

His voice is excellent, his delivery a model which more than one mush-mouthed backbencher from the bonodocks might study to his profit.

Incisive, Correct

Here, parrying an opposition broadsword with a practiced rapier, stands one of the few men in our House possessed of a true, parliamentary courtliness.

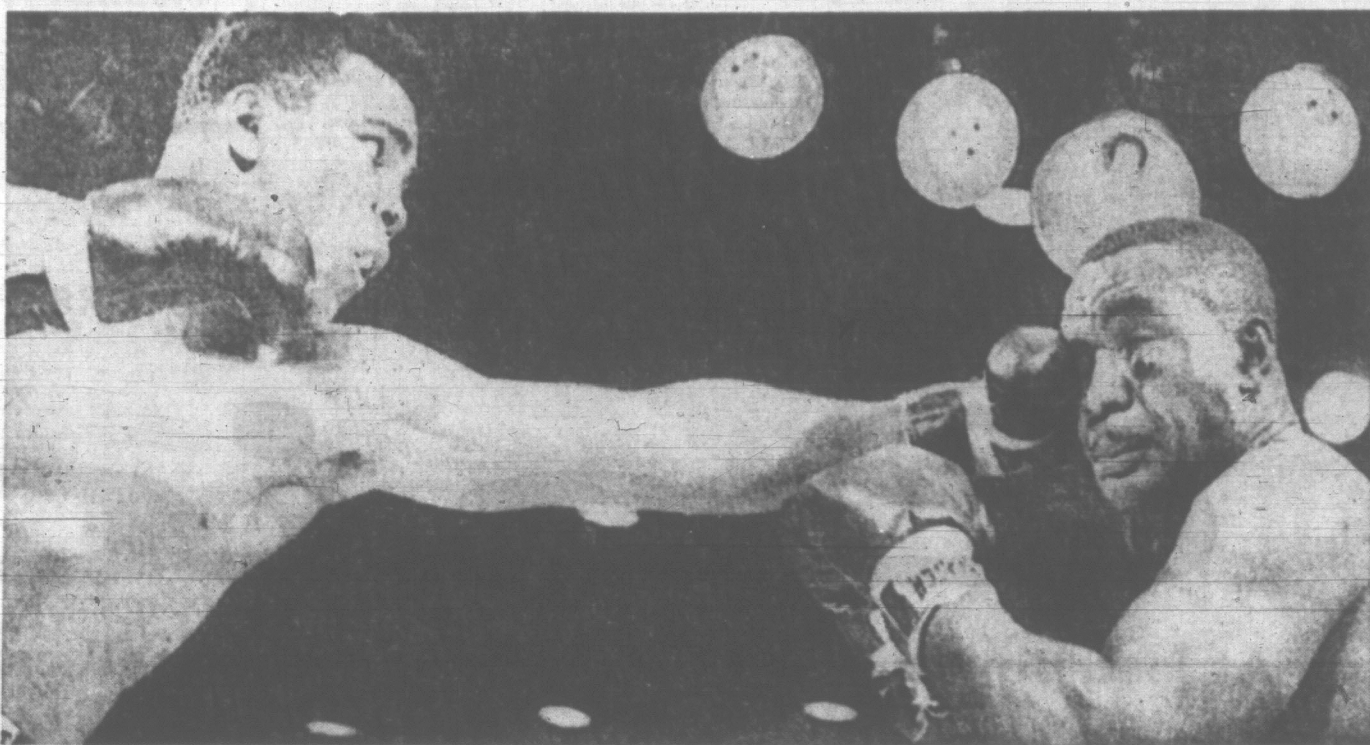

He is incisive. He is unfailingly correct, and his knowledge of legislative procedure, I'm told, is a match for that of parliament's venerable clerk, E. K. De Beck.

No crowd-pleaser, Mr. Bonner lacks the surface warmth for that, and at times too plainly impatient of duller minds. But in debate, head-and-shoulders the legislature's best.

RUSS WHEAT LOADING STARTS ON WEEKEND

WASHINGTON (AP)—Waterfront unions are ready to resume loading ships with U.S. wheat for Russia by the end of the week after ending a 10-day boycott.

The White House announced late Tuesday that the unions had agreed to load the wheat after President Johnson pledged that—in all future grain deals with Russia—half of the cargo would be carried in U.S. ships.

Youth in China and U.S. 'Both Strong Conformists'

WASHINGTON (CP) — Dr. Wilder Penfield, famed Montreal neurosurgeon, says he has seen no evidence of malnutrition in Red China.

Instead, he has found the Chinese have made great progress in eradicating disease, with hospitals and medical schools that are "absolutely first class."

"The Chinese may not have too much to eat but they have enough to maintain a vigorous life," Dr. Penfield added Tuesday as he addressed a selected group of U.S. correspondents, editorial writers and commentators.

With him were Dr. Denis Lazure, director of child psychiatry at Montreal's L'Hopital Sainte-Justine, and Dr. Geoffrey C. Andrews, executive director of the Canadian Universities Foundation, Ottawa.

The three Canadians, all of whom made trips to the mainland in recent years, are delivering a number of talks in this capital as part of an international seminar sponsored by the American Friends Service Committee, a Quaker organization. Dr. Lazure said he saw something strikingly similar between the youth of the U.S. and Red China—both were strong conformists.

Dr. Andrews said he was mainly impressed with the puritan nature of Chinese society, rather than its Communist fabric. He also felt the exodus of Chinese technicians had slowed China's technological advance.

At one point in his travels, he noted the Chinese had built huge irrigation systems but had failed to measure the historical pattern of rainfall in that area so that ditches were half-filled or completely dry.

The old sense of isolation, often associated with China, was fast disappearing. In medicine, the Chinese were making use of a lot of Western ideas and were constantly in search of the latest medical information, Dr. Penfield said.

Dr. Lazure, studying the impact of the communes on social life, said Chinese children showed little anti-social behavior. Their rigid and clear-cut training gave them a clear understanding of what society expected of them. There appeared to be no problem of juvenile delinquency. A shift of the child's allegiance from parents to the state carried with it no feeling of hostility towards the parents.

Rather, he said, the younger generation seemed to feel sorry that the older folks didn't have the same opportunities for reconstruction now being undertaken.

GOING TO CHINA is former Tory agriculture minister Alvin Hamilton. He said today he had received and accepted an invitation from the Chinese committee for the promotion of international trade.

Liston Injury Probed In Clay's Upset Win

Purse Held Up Pending Report

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—State Attorney Richard Gerstein launched an investigation today into Cassius Clay's surprise heavyweight title victory over the heavily favored Sonny Liston here Tuesday night.

He announced, "I have asked the Miami Beach Boxing Commission to make available all records and medical papers relating to Liston."

Clay, a 7-1 underdog, won on a seventh round technical knockout at the Miami Beach Convention Hall when Liston was unable to answer the bell for the seventh round because of an injured left shoulder.

Gerstein said the Miami Beach Boxing Commission records and papers will be turned over to the county medical examiner "to determine if there is justification for further investigation."

He expected to get the records within the next 24 hours.

Gerstein emphasized that the Florida state law provides a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison for anyone convicted of altering the outcome of an athletic contest.

Gerstein's announcement was made at almost the same time when the new 22-year-old champion from Louisville was holding a news conference in the veterans room of the same convention hall where he scored his amazing triumph.

'I Just Do It for the Money'

Clay said jokingly, "I'm talking about retiring now. I don't like to fight. I don't like to hit and get hit. I just do it for the money. Sugar Ray Robinson never liked it either."

Robinson, a former welterweight and middleweight champion, was with Cassius when Cassius put on his wacky weigh-in act Tuesday and was fined $2,500 by the boxing commission for disorderly conduct.

Clay's remarks about retiring brought laughter from sportswriters who recalled that he fought more than 150 amateur bouts—for fun—and won the Olympic light-heavyweight championship in 1960.

Cassius said he may remain in Miami Beach, for about a week and then rest for a couple more weeks before deciding on the future.

The Miami Beach commission withheld the $250,000 "live gate" portion of Liston's money pending the report of two orthopedic surgeons appointed by the commission to examine Liston today.

The surgeons' report was expected later in the day, Tuesday night, a team of eight doctors at St. Francis Hospital said that Liston had suffered injury sufficient to justify termination of the bout.

Clay hurt his arm when he threw a left hook in the first round.

"I felt a twinge—I knew my arm went out," he said. "My whole glove felt heavy like it was full of water. When I tried to raise my arm it felt like lead."

Liston said he felt sure he would have caught up with Clay and knocked him out had it not been for the unusual injury.

Liston was reluctant to give his conqueror much credit for the tainted victory.

"I don't think he is as good as for instance Eddie Machen or Zora Folley," Sonny said. "He didn't put up as good a fight as Patterson."

The former champion said

Increases of 28-cents plus a two-cent contributory welfare scheme in the second year.

The new proposal asks a two-year contract with increases each year of 15 cents. It seeks a welfare plan to be set up immediately on signing of the agreement, with $2,500 death benefits and $40 per week sickness benefits.

The proposal also asks three weeks vacation after 10 years. Company representatives were not present, but the pro-

NICOSIA (AP)—Plans by President Makarios to increase his Greek-Cypriot security force and disarm all irregulars on Cyprus has injected an explosive new issue into the crisis in the eastern Mediterranean.

The Greek-Cypriot president said his order Tuesday to create a special 5,000-man police force was designed "not only for the island's security and return to normality, but also to face any other unpleasant situation."

In a move obviously aimed at the Turkish-Cypriot minority opposing his Greek-Cypriot regime, Makarios said any Cypriot carrying arms illegally would be disarmed and anyone attempting to import arms "will be prosecuted."

Turkish-Cypriots immediately challenged the constitutionality of the order, which would raise the legal Greek-Cypriot armed strength to nearly 7,000 men, about the size of the British peacekeeping force on Cyprus.

The Turkish-Cypriots said that under the constitution the special force would have to be made up of 60-per-cent Greek-Cypriots and 40-per-cent Turkish-Cypriots.

WELCOME TO JOIN

Greek-Cypriot officials said Turkish-Cypriots would be welcome to join the force if they swear allegiance to the Makarios government and promise to defend the island's independence and territorial integrity. But it was unlikely that any of the Turkish faction would want to join such a force.

The Greek-Cypriots outnumber the Turkish faction 4 to 1, and their armed irregulars have been estimated to number

SHE DOESN'T KNOW A HANDICAP

Easy to See That Kathy Shines

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Pope John called Kathy Dorn a girl of "great courage."

The late president John F. Kennedy wrote her of his admiration of her abilities.

Mayor Erastus Corning II of Albany has called her "a credit to the city."

But you can judge for yourself.

Kathy is 17 and editor of the student newspaper at Mercy High School here. She is an avid swimmer and bowler, water skis, ice-skates, plays musical instruments and sings.

A life-long acquaintance described Kathy's personality as "electric." Another said he had "never seen her depressed."

On weekend dates, the pert brunette likes nothing better than a trip to the movies or a basketball or football game. "And I haven't missed a school dance in four years," Kathy said during an interview.

Kathy has been blind since birth.

Corning, who has known her since she was two, explained how Kathy inspired him to develop in-community educational facilities for the blind. Until recently, blind children in Albany had to travel to Rome, N.Y., or to neighboring states to school, he said.

CREDIT TO CITY

Kathy's courage and ability to learn got me interested in the problem of education for the blind and, in fact, all handicapped children. . . .

She's a credit to her family and a credit to the city."

Kathy has helped to advance the cause of the sick and the handicapped in other ways.

Each of the last four years, she has spent a day at the Albany Medical Centre Hospital answering questions for a battery of doctors. She attempts to tell the doctors how she "sees" a new formal gown, or a love scene in a movie or a touchdown run.

Frequently, she spends time in hospital wards reading to the children from her braille story books. Or she may play the piano or organ, if one is handy, or sing or play her harmonica or accordion.

"She's so talented, so gifted in music . . . and her personality is just . . . just electric!" said a neighbor, Mrs. Cora Stevenson, who has known Kathy since birth.

Kathy is taking a pre-college course in school and hopes to become an English teacher one day.

"I used to have a steady boy friend," Kathy said cheerfully, "but there's just too much else to do right now. . . ."

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

CPR publicity man Ed MacPherson has struck a mighty blow for Victoria in general and the Empress Hotel and Undersea Gardens in particular.

Working through the CPR's New York office, Ed arranged to have detailed descriptions of Victoria's attractions given to Amy Vanderbilt, author of the column "Etiquette," a United Features Syndicate release which appears in 140 newspapers in the United States, Canada, and Latin America.

He also sent a generous supply of tourist brochures, among them one featuring the Undersea Gardens, the Oak Bay attraction where denizens of the deep are on display.

As a result, Miss Vanderbilt's entire March 2 column is devoted to B.C.'s Capital.

Some sample comments: "The climate of Victoria is exceptional... it is a leisurely place with beautiful gardens which even this month will be blooming... there is a new attraction in Victoria which you must be sure to visit—the Undersea Gardens, the only such gardens in the world..."

For a "plug" like that, one could almost forgive Ed for living in Vancouver, instead of Victoria, where his heart is.

Central Saanich council may become the recipient of one of the most "intoxicating" tables in British Columbia.

Coun. Ray Lamont will look into the possibility of making a table from redwood bathed in wine for years.

"The wood polishes beautifully," he said.

His plan is to use the staves of dismantled wine vats for the table.

The vats belonged to Growers' Wine Ltd., of Saanich. They were dismantled to make room for more up-to-date storage tanks.

The wood was given to the Lamont family which played a leading part in the formation of the company years ago.

Councillors are elated at the possibility of sitting around a table made of wood matured in the juice of one of the municipality's major products—loganberries.

Dropped into one of the leading eateries for lunch—one of the spots that caters to the motoring visitor. We couldn't see through the water glasses. Our plate was chipped and the silverware covered with a dull film. We won't go back.

We wonder what the effect is on the U.S. tourist. And we wonder how this situation could exist if our health department is on its toes.

The manager wasn't in, but the cashier agreed with our complaint, blaming it all on the detergent. Hardly good enough for a tourist-conscious community.

Was Lois Haggen, MLA for Grand Forks-Greenwood, asked to join the "fitness-by-cycling" campaign organized last week by fellow members of the Legislative Assembly?

"Indeed I was asked," Mrs. Haggen answers, "and I said I'd join the group if Mr. Peterson would prove he really was the Minister of Labor by pulling my bicycle around Beacon Hill Park."

"So far, he hasn't accepted my challenge."

Most of us, when envying millionaires, console ourselves with the thought that at least we don't have to pay their income tax. But pity the man whose taxable income is a mere dollar ($1).

He has to pay all of that dollar in federal income tax. Then he has to pay ten cents in provincial tax. Which should remind us all that the Ides of March are coming and the tax collectors are getting fat.

as many as 30,000 men and women. The legal armed strength of the Greek-Cypriots number 1,200 police and 270 army troops.

Turkish-Cypriot armed strength consists of about 1,000 policemen and soldiers who broke away from the island's police force and army after the December clash. There also are several hundred armed members of the Turkish underground and several hundred villagers with shotguns.

In addition, Greece and Turkey maintain small army garrisons on the island under a special treaty of rights signed after Cyprus won independence from Britain in 1960. The Greek contingent totals 950 and the Turkish 650.

This was the second consecutive day when two jurors were taken.

Piles of Lumber Annoy Residents

City council Tuesday decided to await written complaints from residents of the Dallas Road-Dock Street area where lumber was being piled near their homes on a rented lot opposite Ogden Point.

There were indications the complaints would be sent to both the public works committee and the health committee to see if anything could be done to stop it.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgell said he had been phoned by two irate householders in the area who said the lumber was being piled during the night by Western Lumber Carriers Limited and was affecting health because it interfered with sleep. He added that the lumber was a hazard to playing children.

Mayor R. B. Wilson said he had been contacted and had asked for a complaint to be submitted in writing. Council deferred action until receipt of the letter.

A lumber company official indicated it would continue using the lot for overflow storage at Ogden Point because "it's industrial property and that's all there is to it."

Negroes Win Rights

MONTREAL (CP)—Negro porters now are eligible to become dining and sleeping car conductors on the CNR, it was announced Tuesday. Previously, only white conductors, chefs, stewards and waiters were eligible for such promotions.

U.S. SHIPPER MOVES INTO ALASKA ROUTE

SEATTLE (AP)—Plans for extension of intercoastal steamship service to Seattle and Alaska were disclosed Tuesday when Sea-Land Service Inc. and the Port of Seattle agreed on a lease of more than $2,000,000 worth of terminal facilities.

Sea-Land has taken an option to purchase the Alaska Freight Lines, and a company spokesman said they hoped to set up an Alaska service within two or three months. It now operates between Elizabeth, N.J., and California.

The port will invest more than $300,000 to put almost 10 acres of space in shape for Sea-Land. Sea-Land will take a 20-year lease, paying $85,000 to $150,000 a year, depending on tonnage moved.

VANCOUVER OFFICE RAIDED

SIU Hits RCMP 'Gestapo'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Sea-farers International Union official said Tuesday night the RCMP used "Gestapo tactics" in raiding his local's office.

Rod Heinekey, union vice-president here, said five RCMP officers armed with search warrants searched the Vancouver local's office and left with a stack of files containing "union business."

He made his Gestapo charge when he said the officers tied up union work for four hours while they went through filing cabinets. The officers had also checked the type of office typewriters.

An RCMP spokesman said the raid was "in connection with the hearing in Montreal of conspiracy to commit assault charges against SIU chief Hal Banks."

He would not confirm that files had been taken.

Banks, 35, is charged with conspiring with two others to assault Richard Greaves here.

Risk-Taking? More to Come Says Premier

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

Premier W. A. C. Bennett Tuesday admitted he took risks and promised to go on taking them as long as he is premier.

It was the climax to a 40-minute virtuoso political performance in the legislature that didn't produce much news, but plenty of humor.

The switch was thrown by Liberal leader Ray Perrault at the start of a night sitting.

Mr. Perrault complained that the premier never answered his letters, and reminisced about statements made by Mr. Bennett when he was an Opposition MLA in the 1940s and early 1950s.

It was just what Mr. Bennett was waiting for.

He flourished a letter from Mr. Perrault.

'Our Policy to Make Rich Richer ...'

He presented this view of Social Credit philosophy:

"Our policy is to make the rich richer ..."

"And the poor poorer," chipped in Leo Nimsick (NDP—Cranbrook).

Mr. Bennett corrected himself: "We want everybody to be richer and nobody poorer—that's Social Credit philosophy."

At one stage during his speech, Gordon Gibson (Lib.—North Vancouver) was waving frantically.

"You're so seldom in the House I was just trying to attract your attention," Mr. Gibson said.

The premier retorted that the government was keeping a record of the time members spend in the House, but he refused to produce it.

Then he explained how Social Credit had cut taxes, reduced PGE freight rates, increased aid

'Paint the Town Harmoniously'

City officials will make a "sales pitch" to a mass meeting of downtown businessmen next month to show them how to give Victoria a "million-dollar" new look.

About 150 persons will be invited by Mayor R. B. Wilson to hear the city's "paint-up" presentation in the ballroom of the Empress Hotel. They will include individual property owners, merchants and representatives of such groups as the Real Estate Board, the Chamber of Commerce and the Downtown Businessmen's Association.

Key to the city's program is a carefully-documented co-operative effort at repainting buildings to create whole blocks of various color harmonies.

Eventually, city hall hopes to persuade all downtown building owners to join in the co-operative effort but for this year it will concentrate on the small tourist belt—Government and Gordon Streets from Fort to the Inner Harbor.

There are about 50 buildings in 13 blocks in the area.

McKAY

McKay Backs Logging

A lone Opposition MLA Tuesday defended the provincial government's plan to allow the logging industry into B.C. parks.

Harry McKay (Lib.—Fernie) was the first Opposition member to voice approval—though he did have some reservations.

Mr. McKay said it was his personal opinion, indicating other Liberals may not agree with him.

'CONTROLLED'

He approved of carefully controlled industrial logging in remote wilderness parks.

He told the legislature this would not include parks on Vancouver Island or in the Vancouver area near heavily populated centres.

Mr. McKay opposed mining in any parks.

Mines and Recreation Minister Kenneth Kierman announced last week the government would allow both logging and mining in wilderness parks.

NOTHING WRONG

"I see nothing wrong with properly controlled logging in some wilderness parks," Mr. McKay said.

Mature and diseased timber in particular should be removed, he said, and the logging ventures would provide access roads for the public.

Parks are of very little value unless the public can get in, he said.

"The idea is for our generation and future generations to get in to them."

SCARS HEAL

Logging would wash an ugly scar in the woods, he said, but the scar would heal.

Mining, however, leaves a scar which does not heal, Mr. McKay added.

He comes from a coal mining area.

'Socreds Saved By Socialism'

By AB KENT

Socialism is Social Credit's salvation, "Randolph Harding told government benches in the legislature Tuesday.

Without the socialization of ferries, Pacific Great Eastern Railway, B.C. Hydro, education, hospital insurance and highways, Social Credit would be out of office, the NDP member for Kaslo-Slocan said.

The greatest successes boasted by the government have been due, not to free enterprise, but to public ownership, and there is more to come, the speaker predicted.

'WORKED WONDERS'

"One of your proudest boasts is acceptance of the socialist principle, and it's worked wonders," Mr. Harding said.

"You're supposed to be a free enterprise government. But in every single department—socialism. We don't mind too much if we can sell you on public ownership for segments of our economy, that's fine. But you are basing your claim to fame on socialist measures, not on free enterprise.

"We aren't through with you yet," he said, pointing to medicare, compulsory automobile insurance, chronic hospital care, major changes in social welfare legislation and mental health as coming.

"Either you do it or the people are going to give us the opportunity to do it," he said. "You may oppose (socialism) today, but tomorrow you'll accept it as part and parcel of the things that must be done for the people of this province."

DENRYS OF VICTORIA

The Turbulent Island

UNITED NATIONS PRESIDENT U Thant has had to admit defeat in his efforts to find a solution to the Cyprus problem through personal negotiation. Amid deep disagreement as to the form of policing which should be arranged for the strife-torn island, he has turned the question over to the United Nations Security Council in hopes that it may have better luck. At the moment luck appears to be a necessary ingredient of any successful outcome.

In greatly augmenting the "home-guard" force to keep peace in Cyprus, President Makarios may have also in mind the possibility of fighting against Turkish "invaders." He has so termed the Turkish forces which have threatened to land on the island, although under the agreement for the independence of Cyprus they, like the British, have the right to intervene to keep the peace.

There is an increasing opinion, indeed, that the Greek majority on the island is hoping to use the present situation to secure complete control of the Turkish minority. Shipments of arms have been sent in, often marked as other goods, even though the populace's possession of arms is one of the greatest threats to the island's peace. The composition of the augmented police force will be interesting as regards the proportions of Greek and Turkish personnel.

Mr. U Thant still hopes that an international force—probably comprising Commonwealth and neutral troops—can be found acceptable to all parties. Britain has opposed use of a force under United Nations command, fearing that Communist influence could be brought to bear. The preference has been for a force under NATO control but with UN approval.

The impression is growing that what President Makarios wishes is not so much a UN force as a guarantee against Turkish intervention, leaving the Greek majority to impose its will through the ultimate effect of numbers.

It is a hopeful development, however, that Britain has now appealed to the Security Council for a solution, followed closely by a similar Cypriot request. It is obvious that outside authority will have to be used in a settlement; emotions and violence have run too far for a cool-headed agreement between the disputants.

The tragic aspect is that such control may have to be imposed for many years to come. The Greek and Turkish elements of the Cypriot population are farther apart now than they were when independence was granted by Britain. They have not demonstrated an ability to exist as an independent state, nor a wish to do so. The Turks want separation; the Greeks seek union with their homeland. It appears to be a task of building bricks without straw—and with sand for clay.

Out of Bounds

THE STATEMENT OF DR. Marcel Chaput, the so-called Quebec independence leader, that some French Canadians are ready to let the Queen "know — and brutally — that she is no longer welcome in French Canada" has been termed "treason" by a member of Parliament and will be so construed by many Canadians, including residents of Quebec.

Regardless of how large a crackpot following Dr. Chaput has, such a remark as he made cannot be widely dissociated from encouragement of the action he suggests may take place. It could be all some fanatical racist might need to move him to an act of violence.

Wheels Within Wheels

A WORLD DOMINATED BY machines with complex electronic brains is a favorite topic for the science-fiction writer. In one sense the possibility is not so remote as most people imagine, according to Dr. Norbert Wiener, a pioneer in the development of high-speed computers.

In a recent interview, Dr. Wiener was asked if there was any danger that machines might someday get the upper hand over man. His answer was a startling "yes," although not quite in the framework of the science-fiction story.

The danger, according to Dr. Wiener, is essentially intellectual laziness. "Some people have been so bamboozled by the word 'machine' that they don't realize what can be done and what cannot be done with machines—and what can be left and what cannot be left to the human beings," he said.

Coming to the crucial matter of machines taking jobs away from men—the revolution of automation that labor leaders say is a "curse" and industrialists say is necessary to survive against competition—Dr. Wiener had this to say:

"The answer is that we can no longer value a man by the jobs he does. We've got to value him as a man."

A lot of the work that men are being used for now is done better by computers. In the glass industry in the United States, 14 men attend the glass blowing machines that turn out 90 per cent of the light bulbs for the whole country. In the auto industry, 10 operators man a machine that turns out motor blocks that 10 years ago were made by 400 men.

In terms of physical work, men can no longer generate enough energy individually to provide the food for their bodies. The actual commercial value of a man's services in modern culture is not enough, Dr. Wiener says, and if people are to be valued it can no longer be on that basis.

The revolution of machines which has taken place with increasing rapidity with the development of computer techniques is irrevocable. It is useless to decree that the machines should not be used, that men should not be displaced, because, as Dr. Wiener notes, "It isn't merely the fact that the computers are being used. It's the fact that they stand ready to be used which is the real difficulty."

Narcotics—Success and Failure

COMPARATIVE VALUES OF the spectacular 136-pound haul of heroin made by the R.C.M.P. in Montreal draw pointed attention to one of the economic aspects of narcotic drug addiction.

Authorities state that the wholesale value of this amount would be $600,000 in the United States. The price would rise to $13,500,000 for sale to street peddlers and to $25,000,000 when sold to addicts. In Canada, an R.C.M.P. inspector adds, the figure would go even higher because narcotics are harder to acquire in this country. A sum of $52,000,000 is mentioned.

This is a little short of 90 times the estimated wholesale price in the United States and indicates the money to be made in the "illicit" traffic by those willing to run the risks. Obviously there are people prepared to take that chance. They are criminals and worse than criminals.

Downright Upsetting

THE SURPRISE ENDING TO the Liston-Clay set to probably contains a moral of some kind. It might be: Never say die. Or: Never count your chickens. Or: You can't win 'em all. Or: The bigger they are . . . But none of them seems quite to fit the situation. The situation itself is chaotic. The copy-book maxims always assured us that the loud-mouthed barggart inevitably gets his come-uppance. But where do we go from here?

Problem Child

FROM LONDON: BRITAIN'S UNIVERSITIES

They Have Gone Slightly Hungry for Funds

By JOHN DAVY

THE brain drain makes a splendid election issue, as the parties play I'm-more-modern-than-you. Mr. Wilson cannot be blamed for trying to swish the Tories down the plug-hole, along with the disappearing scientists.

But both parties know quite well that whoever wins will have to face some uncomfortable realities, to which there is no quick solution.

The first—and most soluble—problem is that British universities are down-at-heel. For years they have gone slightly hungry for funds, and have expanded while clinging to fossilized methods of administration.

Mean Atmosphere

Many scientists get most of the research money they ask for—but have to spend it in decaying laboratories and an atmosphere of reluctance and meanness. The attractions of a wide-open Californian campus are all too obvious.

The Labour Party thinks that another £30 million a year for university science departments would work wonders. It would certainly help, just as a lick of paint will lift the morale of a family living in a crumbling Victorian house.

Other improvements would contribute: more assistant professorships for outstanding men, more flexible pension schemes, more generous travel and expense allowances so that British scientists at conferences abroad do not have to creep shamefacedly into the cheapest hotels.

The problem, though, goes deeper. For the most disturbing thing about the exodus of scientists is that they are attracted not only by American wealth: they find America intellectually more stimulating.

Lurking deep in many British minds—including, one suspects, Mr. Hogg's—is the belief that Britain is Greece to America's Rome. "They have the money, we have the brains." If there ever was anything in this notion, it is now mere self-delusion: American laboratories are making the running in very many of the most lively fields of scientific progress. This is not done by money, but by very clever men, many of whom have not been kidnapped from Britain but were actually born in the United States.

The Americans, in fact, are proving that you can be rich and clever. The enormous, wealthy campuses of Stanford, Berkeley, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Harvard and others are not only rolling in dollars—they are fizzing with intellectual excitement.

This does not mean that all is roses in the American garden. They are beginning to suffer from a domestic brain drain—the huge, wealthy research centres, which monopolize the bulk of the research money, are constantly raiding the smaller universities for able men.

A president of a small North Dakota university writes in a current issue of Science that the impoverishment of the smaller faculties is such that "higher education, of acceptable quality, is beyond the reach and hope of many young Americans."

This is a symptom of a profound transformation which is overtaking science throughout the world. It is equivalent to the replacement of the small shopkeeper by the supermarket. There is no doubt that huge, wealthy research centres, efficiently run by professional administrators instead of a harassed professor, can be exciting and productive places. They seem impersonal and harbor many second-rate scientists as well as the stars—but it will be extremely dangerous to underestimate their attractions for the ambitious research worker.

Difficult Choice

This implies an extremely difficult choice for Britain. We could try to build up similar centres here. They would have to be conceived and financed on an American scale. We could afford only a few of them, and they would presumably concentrate on fields where British contributions are outstanding. Instead of trying to compete with America all along the line, we would have to be very selective.

To counter the threat to teaching, there would have to be lavish provision for visiting lectureships, to tempt research men to give courses in their specialties at smaller universities. University teachers would have to be given much more status and rewards, so that it became a real alternative to research. At present, senior posts nearly always go to the gifted research man, not the gifted teacher.

Against the Tide

The alternative is to swim against the American tide, and find other ways of making smaller universities attractive centres for research. The problem here is that there is probably insufficient talent to go round. In every university there may be two or three groups doing world-class work. With full support, they could keep their men, and even attract scientists from America, as the Cambridge molecular biologists do.

Inevitably, this would mean that universities would move toward specialization: Manchester for radio astronomy, Cambridge for molecular biology, and so on. This could distort the teaching system as much as the emergence of a few giant research centres.

The main danger is that these trends will be ignored or that compromises will be attempted. This could lead to the worst of both worlds. My own guess is that we must accept the need for some scientific supermarkets. It follows that we must provide separately for excellence in research and excellence in teaching. If we see these as distinct activities, it will be easier to find means to ensure that they really fertilize each other.

What will not work is a simple-minded attempt to stop the brain-drain by bribery. The problem lies as much in the sociology and psychology of academic life as in its economics. Exactly parallel problems exist in the industrial and political life of the country. They need to be seen as a whole. (London Observer Service.)

As Our Readers See It

Miss Lottie Bowron

It was a great shock to learn of the sudden passing of Miss Lottie Bowron. Last Wednesday, February 19, was the anniversary of the closing of the Beaver Club, the well known servicemen's club in London, England.

Miss Bowron was the librarian at the club. Mrs. Angus Cameron was a supervisor and I was the snack-bar cashier. Together the three of us last Wednesday enjoyed a reunion luncheon and reminisced about the war years in London.

Once more another link has been broken. Mrs. Cameron and I mourn her passing, and are proud to have known her.

Parks Destruction

It ill behooves me to criticize our government but I feel that certain facets of the recent disputes should be emphasized for the benefit of all citizens of our province. I feel very strongly that there are too many portfolios being given to one man, and consequently they cannot do justice to any one of them; an example being the fiasco of social welfare handled by a man with three portfolios.

However, another example has arisen about which I feel very strongly. This is the tragedy of Mr. Kiernan, minister of mines, handling the portfolio of the department of recreation and conservation. His recent statement to the press obviously shows that his heart lies with the miner, the forester, or the cheap public commercial enterprise rather than with his obligation to the British Columbia of the future.

To let mining interests, or logging interests, or commercial enterprises, into our public parks is going to destroy our forests, drive our wild creatures from the protected areas, and leave the area in fit condition only to be subdivided for residential occupation. If we wish to see logged-off areas, why create new ones in our public parks? All we need do is to go on the road between Jordan River and Port Renfrew to see the shambles resulting from logging operations.

Mining operations can as easily do as great an amount of harm; and I do not wish to overlook the Little Qualicum Falls from the revolving stool of a hamburger "joint." On the heels of the hamburger stand come the Coca-Cola signs, the ignored waste-paper receptacles, and the usual accompanying litter.

It is necessary to desecrate our public parks with the wealth of timberland still available? Also there are certain areas wherein small mining interests are yet to be developed. It seems to me the time has come to instigate federal and provincial legislation to protect our public parks for all time; the American government has chosen to do this, yet in Canada there is as yet nothing to prevent the "Mr. Kiernans" and the "Mr. Benetts" or anyone else of the future who has the political power, from selling out our heritage for the sake of a dollar today and the promise of wasteland tomorrow. May I point out the instance of Hamber Park which, on its instigation, was the largest in the world; over the years it has been whittled down to two or three square miles.

These recreational areas, set aside in their natural state, belong not only to you, Mr. Kiernan, and to me; they belong to our children and our children's children; be sure you do not have to apologize to them tomorrow for a thoughtless action today.

Dank Wilderness

In June of 1910 a railway survey party slowly squirmed its way from Cowichan Lake to Nitinat River country. This terrain is probably typical of much of Vancouver Island and our B.C. coast forest areas.

Due to the tall trees the sky was seldom visible and sunny warmth a great rarity. The journey of several weeks might be likened to a trip through a damp murky tunnel in which underbrush and wind fallen trees provided frustrating impediments to any form of travel.

There were no signs of wild life but we encountered one trapper and two prospectors.

Even the Brown family and Mark Trail would have disliked an outing in such country. Let's have things pleasanter for the travelling public in our parks.

Pothole Dangers

Today I went for a walk on doctor's orders for my health. I am not really crippled but I probably will be if I have to walk streets like Burnside or Millgrove to Hampton Road.

WASHINGTON:

Mr. Rusk's Boycott

By MAX FREEDMAN

SECRETARY of State Rusk has come perilously close to introducing a new principle that is wicked as well as stupid. It is the principle that entire nations can be guilty of guilt by association.

On a program broadcast by the Voice of America, Mr. Rusk was asked about an American boycott of British goods because of Britain's trade with Cuba. He answered: "I think it is possible there may be some consumer reaction here in this country with respect to firms that specifically engage in that trade. But that is something that is in the hands of private citizens; we have no part in that ourselves."

Now it is most unlikely that very many Americans will have any occasion to do business with the British firm that sold buses to Cuba—the recent item in this trade that has received the most publicity. Unless Mr. Rusk's statement is meaningless, he must be saying that a private American boycott should extend to all the firms that are trading with Cuba. How can an American consumer possibly have all this detailed information about British trade?

Freedman

Targets

Mr. Rusk was not talking about a general boycott of British goods. He was talking about British firms "that specifically engage" in trade with Cuba. But there is utterly no reason why Mr. Rusk should make this distinction.

These firms are not being treated as moral lepers in England. The British people are not trying to boycott them. The British government wants more trade with Cuba. So does the Labor Party. The British press is overwhelmingly in favor of expanded trade. No public figure in Britain who opposed this policy could escape the charge of being a craven American satellite.

Mr. Rusk has won no praise in Britain for his supposed moderation. His reference to a boycott against particular British firms has merely bewildered people and aroused great suspicion. He stands accused of conducting a campaign against British trade for which he is unwilling to take any responsibility. Since when has Pontius Pilate come to be regarded as a model for American statesmen?

Mr. Rusk forgets that millions of Americans have personal knowledge of boycotts. In the years before the war they tried to boycott goods from Nazi Germany and Japan. The challenge from those dictator states was without precedent. By comparison the Cuban problem is a puny affair. But Americans boycotted German and Japanese goods. They did not boycott the goods of particular firms in other countries specifically trading with the dictators. That absurdity has been reserved for Mr. Rusk.

Failures

Despite the resentment in many countries against Nazi Germany and Japan, the boycott failed and the war came. Every boycott in recent history, whether conducted privately by consumers or proclaimed officially by governments, has failed.

This is the record of experience with boycotts. It provides no support for the belief that enough people in enough countries will support the boycott to make it prevail. The record shows, on the contrary, that there will always be someone who will break the boycott or refuse to accept it. In Cuba we know in advance that the boycott must fail. All the Communist countries will trade with Cuba, and Britain and France are hardly alone among the democratic nations in planning to increase their Cuban trade.

What makes this controversy almost grotesque is that Mr. Rusk is behaving as if the Cuban market is one of the important markets of world trade. He does not recognize that Britain objects even more to political dictation of world trade than to any loss of sales in Cuba.

As secretary of state, Mr. Rusk has a clear duty in the present dispute. It is his duty not to echo popular prejudices about Cuba but to fight them. He must dare to educate the American people by emphasizing unpopular truths and neglected realities. It is a duty which he has yet to fulfill.

Dying of swamp fever in Greece, the poet was bled twice. "The damned doctors have drenched me so that I can scarcely stand." Half delirious, he said to his weeping friend: "Oh, what a fine scene. Shall I sue for mercy? Come, come, Byron! No weakness." Then, "I must sleep now."

30-17 Vote Approves Record Budget

B.C.'s record-breaking budget was approved by the legislature Tuesday.

The vote was 30 to 17, all Social Credit in favor, the NDP and Liberals opposed.

Now debate turns to a detailed breakdown of the $393,593,483 budget estimates and how they will be allocated to the various departments of government.

The budget was approved after an Opposition want-of-confidence motion died at birth because of a technicality.

The motion, traditional at the end of a budget debate, was made by Randolph Harding (NDP—Kaslo-Slocan).

It amended the motion that the Speaker leave the chair for the House to go into committee of supply to consider government estimates.

WELFARE, PARKS

The amendment called on the government to reorganize the social welfare department and, asked Recreation Minister Kiernan to assure the House he does not intend to permit "any private logging, new mining venture or other private control or defiling of our parks."

It was to have been seconded by Mrs. Lois Haggen (NDP—Grand Forks-Greenwood). But Speaker William Murray ruled Mrs. Haggen could not second because she had already spoken to the motion.

His ruling was upheld 35-12 with the Liberals siding with the government.

Saanich Studies Pleas For Grants

Three organizations applied to Saanich finance committee Monday for grants, and all were referred to the committee on estimates.

Delegations were sent to the meeting by the Maritime Museum of B.C. and by the Victoria Symphony Society. The Armed Services Centre sent a letter.

The maritime museum delegation asked that Saanich boost its grant from $250 to $1,000.

Need for a bigger staff to make use of the larger quarters soon to be available in the Bastion Square court house was stressed.

Committee was told more than 20,000 visitors went through the museum last year, and that this should hit 40,000 in the new, more accessible quarters.

Jack Barraciough of the symphony society asked the committee to "up the ante a little," saying the society would like to get ultimately 10 cents per capita from the municipality.

"What little more money we get from the municipalities is well invested," he said.

"You will never be criticized for giving money to us."

All three applications were referred to the estimates committee without debate.

Spain to Continue Trade With Cuba

MADRID (UPI)—Spain declared Saturday it will continue its trade with Communist Cuba despite the U.S. threat to halt military aid to this country if it does so.

Information Minister Manuel Fraga Iribarne announced the government's stand in response to a question at the conclusion today of a cabinet meeting presided over by Chief of State Francisco Franco.

Socred Gov't 'Like Cassius Clay'

The Social Credit government is like Cassius Clay—too cocksure, Opposition Leader Robert Strachan charged Tuesday.

He said that so far during the legislative session the government had proved itself "just as modest as Cassius Clay."

(Mr. Strachan spoke before the heavyweight championship fight in which Cassius Clay backed up his mouth with muscle.)

"It has a smug self-assurance that tends to be contemptuous," Mr. Strachan said.

"The government has become too cocksure of itself for the good of the province."

PAST FAILURES

He said it should be reminded of its past failures.

Among them, he said, were:
A 107-day delay in laying charges against former forests minister Robert Sommers, later convicted of accepting bribes that "smirched your reputation for all time".

Threats during last September's election of "retribution" unless people voted Social Credit.

BAILING OUT

Repudiation of its policy not to take over the B.C. Electric.

"Bailing out" the Wenner-Gren interests who planned to develop the Peace River, now a public venture.

Mr. Strachan charged that Premier W. A. C. Bennett had warned the B.C. Electric about being taken over at the very time in 1960 when he was campaigning against it during a provincial election.

TOLD ABOUT IT

He said former BCE official Dr. Harry Purdy had been told about it by the premier. Mr. Bennett denied he had spoken to Mr. Purdy.

Mr. Strachan corrected it—it was former BCE president Dr. A. E. Grauer, now dead. Mr. Bennett did not deny this.

Mr. Bennett also denied Mr. Strachan's charge that the government had delayed the report of a royal commission on expropriation because it did not like the contents.

Mr. Bennett said the report of former judge J. V. Clyne had never been offered to the government and it had made no suggestion to Mr. Clyne about it.

Mothers Interdicted

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two mothers have been placed on the interdict list and given one-year suspended sentences for child neglect. Mrs. Jean Sparks, 25, and Mrs. Emily Tucker, 27, both of White Rock, admitted in family court Monday in suburban Surrey to leaving their children in a car outside a hotel beer parlor for more than three hours Jan. 29.

Both women have been removed from the welfare rolls.

SECRETARY Carole Tyler refused to answer questions in Washington, D.C., probe today of the get-rich-quick deals of her boss, Bobby Baker, former Senate aide.

Bonner Sees Other New B.C. Banks

Attorney-General Robert Bonner Tuesday predicted there will be more than one new British Columbia bank.

The government launched the idea of a new bank with headquarters in Vancouver, and it intends to buy up to 25 per cent of its stock.

Mr. Bonner told the legislature he hopes that other British Columbia banks will be established as a result of increased interest in the economy and politics of the province.

"I think time will prove me right," Mr. Bonner said.

British Columbia is now being recognized as a power in Canada's economy, he said. One of the main reasons was the settlement of the B.C. Electric takeover, Mr. Bonner said, and the go-ahead of the two-river power plan.

"There is an inborn stability in our economy which could not have been apparent 12 months ago," he said.

HEAR DIVORCE, JURY TRIALS

County Courts Streamlined

County courts will be able to conduct criminal jury trials across B.C. in July.

Legislation introduced Tuesday by Attorney-General Robert Bonner also allows divorce proceedings in county courts.

Other changes, mainly procedural, streamline the affairs of county courts and, in effect, make them similar to supreme courts.

At present, criminal jury trials and divorce hearings are only permitted in Supreme Court. Capital offences, such as murder and rape, will still be heard only in Supreme Court.

The legislation consists of amendments to the County Courts Act and the Supreme Courts Act.

Among the changes:

Cases of claim will be heard in County Court unless a specific objection is raised.

County court judges in Victoria and Vancouver are to have the powers of local Supreme Court judges.

Subject to cabinet proclamation at an unspecified date, County Court writs and summonses will be the same as those used in Supreme Court. Mr. Bonner said the new system may in time require appointment of an extra county court judge. This, he said, will be discussed later in the session.

Deepsea Tug Sinks

LONDON (AP) — The Dutch high seas tug White Zee sank Sunday night off the south coast of the Isle of Wight. Her crew of 16 was rescued by British vessels. 'MUD IN YOUR EYE'

Talking as he throws, new heavyweight champion Cassius Clay bangs right over left eye of Sonny Liston. Clay did more talking later after.

Liston was unable to come out for seventh round. Liston had cuts under both eyes, but real damage was muscle tear. (AP Wirephoto.)

THE CANNON WASN'T CLOSE

Long left thrown by Sonny Liston fell short time and again against bobbing, weaving Cassius Clay in their world heavyweight championship bout at Miami Beach Tuesday night. Staying out of trouble, Clay dethroned Liston who failed to answer the bell for the seventh round. Clay had predicted victory in eight. (AP Wirephoto.)

Astounding Upset by Cassius Leaves Fans With Questions

The Big Bear Cried ... The Big Left Was Dead

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Big Bear sat and cried. Sonny Liston's cold, dark eyes, whose icy stare is said to have paralyzed many of his past ring opponents, glazed over with tears.

And the mighty left arm which was supposed to have paralyzed Cassius Clay, hung limply at Liston's side, swollen and numb.

Eight doctors worked on Liston trying to pinpoint the ailment that robbed Liston of his knockout punch and cost him his world heavyweight championship when he failed to come out for the seventh round in Tuesday night's bout.

After nearly 3½ hours of examination, along with countless X-rays, the doctors announced in a joint report that Liston had suffered shoulder injury sufficient to prevent him from defending himself.

Liston had left the ring at Miami Beach Convention Hall quietly after the referee declared him the loser by a seventh-round technical knockout. He went to his dressing room, skipped the shower, put on street clothes and was rushed to St. Francis Hospital.

X-RAYS TAKEN

White-garbed nuns escorted him to the X-ray room and a laboratory technician took 12 pictures of the fighter's arm and shoulder. When they proved unsatisfactory, another battery of X-rays was taken.

Finally, at about 2:30 a.m., Dr. Alexander Robbins, chief physician of the Miami Beach Commission, emerged from the crowded and heavily guarded X-ray room and said he had a joint statement from the eight doctors.

"We came to the conclusion that Sonny Liston suffered an injury to the long head to the biceps tendon of the left shoulder ... this condition would be sufficient to incapacitate him and prevent him from defending himself," the doctor said.

Robbins said the arm injury would not pose any permanent disability.

Jack Nilon, the ex-champ's adviser, was painfully aware that criticism had been aroused by the bizarre end to the fight that the Miami Beach Boxing Commission had ordered Liston's purse held.

READ SLOWLY

"Read the statement slowly," Nilon told Robbins. "And you newsmen take down every word. Get it absolutely correct."

Then Nilon said Liston would drive from the hospital to his home in Miami Beach and that Liston would make no statement.

CLASSIC BOXING

The Loudmouth Can Also Fight

By ANDY O'BRIEN
Weekend Magazine Sports Editor
(Special to the Times)

ST. FRANCIS HOSPITAL, Miami Beach — Sonny Liston, the former heavyweight champion of the world, claims he really threw his shoulder out of commission in the first round. He told us that it really got painful in the fourth round.

I suppose that from afar there might be cynical comments about the outcome but from ringside, where the moneyed fans paid $250 to sit (there were lots of good seats at the bottom price of $20), it was the best heavyweight championship fight I have ever seen. And that goes back to the dominant days of Joe Louis.

Cassius Clay is a loudmouth. He also can fight. Here in the X-ray department early this morning reports were vague. The police stood four square in shutting us off. However I did get through for a few seconds and saw Sonny involved in a chummy phone conversation. He did not seem in pain.

There will undoubtedly be a return bout but do not waste your money. Clay will jab the former fearsome fella right out of the ring.

In terms of hockey, I clocked the shots in goal as 78 for Clay and 27 for Liston. Of those, I would say that only one Liston punch really hurt and that was in the fifth round. Clay landed three solid punches. The return bout should see the loudmouth knock Sonny cold within three rounds. For better or for worse, Cassius is going to be around for quite some time and deserves recognition as a real champion despite the doubtful assistance of Liston's ailing shoulder.

It Was the Tunney Type of Running

Seated alongside were Ed Sullivan, Arthur Godfrey and Tony Martin. In the commotion that followed the abrupt ending of the brawl we had conflicting opinions about the turn of the tide but we did agree that Clay was the better man. There is a saying in heavyweight championship circles that you can run but you can't hide. Clay did some running but it was the Tunney type of running. It was possibly the most classic display of boxing seen at the title level.

At the weigh-in Tuesday morning, Clay played the role of loudmouth clown to the limit and most of us were secretly looking forward to seeing him get creamed by the sullen, silent Liston. But he did justify his bragging and he is very much the world's champion.

I suppose there will be considerable eyebrow lifting about the 7-to-1 odds favoring Liston by the Las Vegas gambling fraternity who are seldom wrong. But I just can't go along with any fix rumors. The heavyweight title is worth too much in this multi-million era. Liston, the former jailbird, was extremely proud of the title and as I saw the brawl he sure tried but he would have been beaten even if the shoulder problem hadn't entered the picture.

Cassius Clay is very much the heavyweight champion of the world. Even if he doesn't button his lip you have to name somebody who could beat him and at this moment there is no such name. Actually he is the best thing that could happen to the very sick fight game right now.

MIAMI BEACH (AP)—Cassius Clay, the fascinating Louisville blowhard, has stunned the boxing world by blowing down heavyweight champion Sonny Liston, the man who couldn't lose. When he says "I'm the greatest," now, nobody laughs.

It went into the books as a seventh round technical knockout—one of the most astounding ring upsets of all time but one that left the millions of fans pondering unanswered questions.

How did it happen? When did it happen? Why didn't Liston, the awesome ring killer, demolish the loquacious Kentuckian as he had done to his other rivals in the last three years?

Liston was taken to St. Francis Hospital where eight physicians subjected him to a 3½-hour series of X-rays and other examinations.

The group issued a statement that said the champion had suffered an injury of the left shoulder which prevented him from defending himself.

The statement said there was a "separation and a tear of muscle fibres" with some bleeding, but gave no other details.

Liston, dressed in a red shirt and slacks, pushed his way out of the hospital without comment. His aides said he planned to go to his Miami Beach temporary home and would make no statement immediately.

His purse from the gate attendance had been ordered held up by the Miami Beach Boxing Commission pending outcome of the doctors' examination.

Jack Nilon, the ex-champion's adviser, said Liston wrenched his shoulder in training but that the two of them decided to try to bluff their way through "because we thought we could get away with it."

Nilon pointed out that Liston stopped boxing six days before the fight but others recalled that Sonny showed no signs of an ailment in other phases of training and even declared himself "in the best shape ever."

This was just one of the many contradictory aspects of the bout, which was a financial flop at the gate with 8,000 paying only $400,000 for the privilege of watching—half of the figure needed to break even.

Clay, the exultant, hysterical and almost berserk new champion, sought to erase any stigma from his spectacular victory even before any had been officially cast.

Unsettled by the ringing boos that rocked the arena, he screamed to all within earshot: "This is no fix. I closed both of his eyes. He didn't touch me. I didn't stop the fight. The doctors did."

Even this fight, a turkey at the gate, was made an astounding success financially by a closed television network that broke the old record of 560,000 viewers and more than $3,200,000 receipts at the box office.

A second, Clay-Liston battle conceivably could gross $10,000,000 over-all.

The fifth round of the fight was indeed a mockery.

Clay, blinking and stumbling from one end of the ring to the other, looked like an easy target. But the massive Liston, weighing 218 pounds to the challenger's 210½, merely pawed at his back-peddaling and apparently helpless prey.

Once during the round, Clay stopped flat on his heels and reached out and patted Liston gently on the nose with his left glove. Liston made no effort to reply.

It looked as if he might have swung and knocked the challenger into the $250 ringside seats.

Then there was a roar of cheers and finally boos.

It was several minutes before the spectators knew what had happened.

Bill MacDonald, the Miami Beach millionaire who lost $400,000 on the promotion, was bitter.

"The operation was a success, but the patient died," he said, adding: "I didn't mind losing all that money. But I do resent the fact that so many people gave me a zinging."

"They said Clay didn't have a chance. This boy showed them. He would have knocked Liston out if it had gone two more rounds."

SILENCED SLINGSHOT of sad Sonny Liston is displayed in Miami Beach hospital. After 3½ hours team of doctors reported that Liston suffered an injury to the biceps tendon of the left shoulder which resulted in separation and tear of muscles. (AP Wirephoto.)

King Clay: A Braggart Or 'Disturbed' Athlete?

ARENA'S TV ATTRACTS 2,100 FANS

The closed-circuit showing of Tuesday's heavy weight championship bout drew approximately 2,100 fans to Memorial Arena and reaction, generally, was favorable.

Main criticism came from a few fans who felt the screen was too small. The same critics admitted, however, they "didn't think about it once the fight got under way."

The fight between Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston will be shown in detail, including slow-motion sequences, at the Atlas Theatre, starting Friday night.

RACE RESULTS ON PAGE 28

MIAMI BEACH (AP)—"I am the king—I am the greatest."

"I float like a butterfly, sting like a bee—rumble, man, rumble."

"I am the prettiest." Cassius Marcellus Clay repeated these boasts so often—like a phonograph record with a stuck needle—that he apparently came to believe it himself.

He became obsessed with his own majesty.

But Clay proved he was "the greatest" Tuesday when he stopped heavyweight champion Sonny Liston in the seventh round.

It was one of the great upsets in ring history.

Clay, a 7-to-1 underdog had been given little, if any chance by anyone.

The calloused fight game, hit by diminishing talent, declining interest and probes of its unsavory connections, was delighted at first by the antics of this brash, young descendant of a Kentucky slave.

Then it became bored with them and finally alarmed as Clay's wild-eyed, frenzied demonstrations took on the complexion of not just a loud-mouthed youngster on a publicity binge but of a possibly deeply disturbed athlete on the verge of a breakdown.

BECOMES CRITICAL

This situation hit a critical point on the day of the title fight.

He almost went berserk at the weigh-in, brandishing his fists and screaming wildly, drawing a $2,500 fine from the Miami Beach athletic commission for his unseemly conduct.

Dr. Alex Robbins, the chief physician of the commission, had said:

"This boy is emotionally disturbed. He is scared to death, he is in mortal fear." Cassius played it loud and bold all the way, even when almost everybody but those closest around him insisted that he was freezing with fright on the inside.

They called him a charlatan and a fake. They said he was a popoff and a loud-mouth. They laughed at his limited fighting ability, but no one questioned his gall.

The unanswered question always remained:

Was he the biggest fake in all sports history? Or was he a modern miracle—a golden boy with a golden gift of gab and a golden talent?

GETS LOUDER

As Clay's success skyrocketed—from an amateur and a member of the United States Olympic team in 1960 to No. 1 contender among the heavyweights in 1964, his boasts became louder and his antics more flamboyant.

He affected a cane, which he banged against the floor, and he dashed off poems, which didn't scan but often rhymed.

"You can believe this jive, I'll win in five."

"I predict I'll win in eight. Just to show that I am great."

MOUTH IN USUAL POSE, "I am the king"—Cassius Clay makes way to dressing room after being declared heavyweight champion. With him is closest associate, Drew (Budini) Brown, also "wound up" a little. (AP Wirephoto.)

'HEY, MA,' SAYS CASS

'GUESS WHO'S CHAMP?'

It Takes One to Know One

EDITOR'S NOTE—Win or lose, Cassius Clay promised United Press International that after he fought Sonny Liston, "I'll do you a story because I want to prove that I can write as well as fight." Here is his story (and he requested his name be carried as below).

By CASSIUS MARCELLUS CLAY II

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Hey Mom, guess who's the new heavyweight champion of the world?

Me. That's right, Ma, your boy, Cassius. Didn't I tell you I'm the greatest? I told them all I was but they didn't believe me. Maybe they believe me now although there are some people in this world you can never convince about anything.

I know I talk a lot. I fight a lot, too.

They all said I'd be scared of that big ugly bear,

Liston. I sure was scared, wasn't I? I was trembling in my boots. Are they kiddin'?

I came to rumble and I did. I used my psychological warfare on Liston during yesterday's weigh-in and I finished the job last night.

Now it's up to him to chase me. I'll gladly give him a return if he wants one. Makes no difference, though. I'll be the same next time. I'm king to stay. I'm beautiful. I'm the best.

How about all those "experts"? They said Liston would rip my head off with his bombs. I don't know. My head is still on my shoulders today, and I ripped his face up pretty good.

I moved and he missed, that's all.

Even Joe Louis told me I did a good job. And you know how great he was. It takes one to know one.

Victoria Golf Club already has its man. Although the executive of the Oak Bay club declines to make an official announcement, their choice for the head professional's job is one of several Old Country prospects recently interviewed by Bert Osborough.

Their choice is a native of Creve, England.

Oak Bay's selection committee fired off a cable to their candidate the other day. It will be official as soon as he wires a "yes, thank you."

Oak Bay's committee has asked Laurie Carroll to remain on the job until after the Empress tournament in April.

In the meantime, the situation at Uplands appears to be getting more complicated by the hour. Nobody's talking, and even the rumors aren't good.

As it stands, faithful Johnny Wren is running the pro shop and Uplands captain Jimmy Reside said a meeting "may be called this week."

Then, says Jimmy, "certain recommendations" will be put to the executive committee.

Harold Husband has turned up with his second hole-in-one of the year, and he's gaining on clubmate Dr. George Bigelow.

George, with 10, tops all active golfers in the city in total aces scored. Harold's latest was No. 9.

Husband was playing in a Sunday foursome with Bill Newcombe, Doug Munro and Dick Flanagan when he connected on Oak Bay's 13th hole.

With Dr. Bigelow pinch-hitting for the absent Ron MacLeod, Oak Bay's team successfully retained the City Open buttons last weekend.

Bigelow and Carroll, reeling off nine birdies, three pars and a bogey in 13 holes, defeated Colwood challengers Laurie Kerr and Mike Kolb, 6 and 5. Ardmore southpaws Hal Jacobsen and Emile Beauchemin tender next Sunday's challenge.

Mokey Morgan and Clarence Mitchell retained the seniors' buttons last week by defeating Colwood's Rev. Harry Pike and Jimmy Dalsiel on the 17th.

The junior pins are still with Earl Francis and Rick Bath, an unbeatable combination this season.

The Gorge Vale youngsters defeated clubmates Vic Derman and John McCormick, 1 up.

If Victoria's various greenskeepers had their way, they would stand on the first tees and insult about 80 per cent of the playing members.

Nobody, it seems, bothers to repair pitch marks any more. This is a crucial time of year for the greens. An extra moment's consideration would do the greens a world of good.

It's hard to insult the stupid, chaps, but we should give it a try.

SHORT CHIPS: Honeymoon's over, and Bill Wakeham's back at work.

The defending B.C. Amateur champion is trying his hand at the insurance game.

MacLeod, continuing his efforts to secure a PGA card that would permit him to play on the gold trail, had to visit Seattle for some more interviews at the weekend.

If he gets his card, the Jasper Park pro will hit the trail next winter.

Uplands' spring opening is set for March 8.

And don't look now, but the qualifying round for the Times Island Open is just around the corner.

A special meeting of the district committee will be held Thursday evening at Gorge Vale, starting at 7:30.

Main topic of business will centre on Victoria's application to stage the 1967 Commonwealth and Canadian Amateur tournaments.

SCHNELLDORFER AHEAD

Canucks Third In Pairs Event

DORTMUND (AP)—Olympic champion Manfred Schnelldorfer of West Germany placed first today in the compulsory figures of the men's competition at the 1964 world figure skating championships.

The 20-year-old Munich student had a clear lead in all six of the school figures, the last of which was skated this morning. His total points were 1,188.1 with 13.5 ordinals.

Cats Hit Coast Final

Victoria's juvenile Cougars are casting their eyes on the Pacific Coast championship, but their "younger brothers" are confronted with tougher climbs.

Victoria's bantam and midget squads both trail Nanaimo teams in two-game, total-point Island finals. Nanaimo defeated Cougars 5-1 in the first game of the bantam series while the midget Cougars lost 6-4.

Both series wind up in Victoria Thursday evening.

Victoria's juveniles claimed the Island championship with a 4-2 victory over Nanaimo. That gave Cougars the series by a 10-4 score and they now move against New Westminster for the coast title.

The coast series will be played in New Westminster Saturday and Sunday.

REACTION

Eating Their Words

NEW YORK (CP)—The sound of munching was heard through the land today as boxing writers almost unanimously were called upon to eat their predictions that Sonny Liston would annihilate Cassius Clay Tuesday night.

Post-mortems on Clay's resounding upset of the heavyweight champion at Miami Beach indicated that some of the diners were suffering touches of indigestion.

"The Clay-Liston bout, on the heels of the two farces featuring Liston and Patterson, could be labeled a "requiem for the fight game," wrote Jesse Outlar of the Atlantic Constitution.

"They thought the kid was fooling," the Chicago Tribune's David Condon wrote. "He wasn't. He is to be applauded for one of the most sensational upsets in heavyweight history."

Other comments:

Arthur Daley, New York Times: "Clay did get one break. Liston never found the fighting at close quarters where his thunderous body-punching normally does terrifying damage. . . Among other things he did was destroy the myth of Liston's invincibility. When a novice like Clay can handle a pro like Liston on an even basis, the young man must have something."

Irv Kupperman, Chicago Sun-Times: "The heavyweight championship of the world became a laughing stock when Cassius Clay won on a dislocated shoulder."

Red Smith, New York Herald-Tribune: "Cassius couldn't fight at all in the fifth, but he could and did show a quality he had never before been asked for. He showed he could take the sternest hooks and heaviest rights Liston could throw . . ."

Roy Anderson, Billings, Mont., Gazette: "It smelled. When a championship changes hands on a sprained shoulder, I think the boxing commission ought to be a little bit curious."

Harry Missildine, Spokane Spokesman - Review: "Excuses or not, injured shoulder or not, Clay not only won the championship, he shattered, erased and otherwise obliterated the image of Liston as a malevolent, irresistible destroyer."

Britain gave the big fight the royal treatment today, hailing "ing Cassius in giant headlines and screening the TV film of Liston's downfall long before dawn.

The Mirror's Peter Wilson wrote from ringside at Miami Beach: "Cassius Clay was right—he is the greatest. At the Convention Hall . . . he stopped talking, started fighting and did what he has been screaming for months he would do—become the new heavyweight champion of the world."

Miss Belousova, 28, and Protopopov, 31, won the Olympic title in Innsbruck, Austria, earlier this month. The Germans are defending world champions and defeated the Soviet team in the European championships at Grenoble, France, two months ago by a narrow margin.

Eva and Pavel Roman of Czechoslovakia, the defending champions, led after two of four routines in the ice dancing division.

Saskatchewan Rink May Trouble B.C.

EDMONTON (CP)—A climbing Saskatchewan rink knocked two rivals out of the unbeaten column Tuesday and loomed as a chief roadblock to British Columbia's threatened runaway in the Canadian women's curling championships.

Ina Hansen's Kimberley, B.C., foursome, the last undefeated entry in the round-robin competition, ran its string of victories to four with lopsided wins in the third and fourth round. Saskatchewan, Alberta and New Brunswick were tied for second place with 3-1 worst records.

BREEZING ALONG

Mrs. Hansen's veteran rink, which has won by at least a six-point margin in each round, breezed past Nova Scotia 16-5 and Ontario 11-2 Tuesday. Barring a resounding fifth-round upset at the hands of Prince Edward Island, the leaders should face their sternest test in sixth — round play against Janet Perkins' rugged Regina crew.

Alberta, upset Tuesday by Nova Scotia, stayed in the leading group by whipping Prince Edward Island 12-4 and Quebec 9-6.

REGINANS HOT

Mrs. Perkins' Reginans, showed little respect for their unbeaten opponents Tuesday, blanking Ontario for seven ends and wrapping up the match with a three and a four after conceding the losers their only point. Against Joan Callaghan's Bathurst, N.B., entry, they ran up a 7-0 lead in four ends and made it 12-2 after eight.

Nova Scotia, which has upset two Prairie rinks, never had a look-in against Mrs. Hansen's B.C. crew, which built up an 11-0 lead before letting in the losers for their first score in the ninth end. The Kimberley foursome looked equally impressive in handling Ontario its second straight lopsided defeat.

HOCKEY PLAYER DIES IN HOSPITAL

TORONTO (UPI)—An amateur hockey player whose jugular vein was severed by an opponent's skate here Feb. 16 died in hospital Tuesday.

Harvey Clarke, 33, suffered the injury in a commercial league game. He was "clinically" dead when taken to hospital, but revived with heart massage. A team of doctors worked four hours to repair the artery, but he had been on the critical list since then.

Canada May Default Coveted Boat Trophy

TORONTO (CP)—Canada is not likely to defend this year the Harmsworth Trophy, top event of unlimited power boat racing.

A Canadian Boating Club official says Canada may default the Harmsworth Trophy because of an unsuccessful bid by the club to limit contesting boats to a seven-litre category.

Harmsworth Trophy trustees, representing the Royal Motor Yacht Club England, have rejected the club's proposal and further stated Canada must defend the trophy.

Nanaimo's Veterans Too Much for Chiefs

Nanaimo 9, Esquimalt 3
By ERNIE FEDORUK
Nanaimo's supposedly aging intermediate hockey players behave like wine. They seem to get better with age.

Veterans kicked up their heels in sprightly fashion, and that's one good reason—perhaps the best—why the Vancouver Island championship remains in Nanaimo.

Red Carr's crew bopped Esquimalt Pontiac Chiefs 9-3 Tuesday night, thus sweeping their best-of-three Island squabble in two straight. Nanaimo won the opener 11-8, now steps against Powell River Regals for the Coast championship.
Seven players accounted for Nanaimo's nine goals Tuesday. And six of the seven are in or around a bracket that allens itself with the word "retirement."

Ergo, Stan Berry (2 goals), Jim Middleton (2), Buddy Dumont, Jim Peterson, Bruno Furlan and Arnie Dugan.

POSITIONAL PLAY GOOD
No kids, these. Still, they have a habit of making out all right. That lost half-step is balanced, by old savvy and fine positional play.

Nanaimo rattled in four goals in the first period, made it 7-1 after two and then shared four with the hustling Chiefs in the final period.

Of the nine pumped in behind a capable but frustrated Johnny Tesky, the one that hurt Esquimalt the most was the first. That one, Esquimalt insists, came on an offside play.

HELD OWN
Until then, Chiefs more than held their own. They pressed hard for the opening 10 minutes and were unfortunate in not hitting the scoreboard.
Jim Bronson, with two, and Duke Hurford scored for Esquimalt.

Nanaimo enjoyed a 38-33 edge in shots-on-goal before a turn-out of about 550 fans.

Author-Pitcher Now Free Agent

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago White Sox declared author-pitcher Jim Brosnan a free agent Tuesday after all other major league baseball clubs declined to pick him up at the weaver price of $1.

The Sox asked waivers on Brosnan after he refused to sign a contract prohibiting him from publishing any material during the baseball season.

Casper Collects Pro-Am Honors

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Billy Casper parlayed his precision putting into a three-under-par 69 over a wet course Tuesday to win individual honors in the pro-am tune-up of the $50,000 Greater New Orleans Open golf tournament.

Finishing second with 70s were Jay Hebert, Jacky Cupit and Jerry Barber. Each received $375.

Strict Enforcement Better Answer

CALGARY (CP)—The Calgary Fish and Game Association sent a telegram to the federal justice department protesting proposed legislation on tightening registration regulations for firearms.
"Solution to criminal use of guns is enforcement and severe penalties," said the telegram from the 1,800-member association. "Criminals are not affected by registration laws and restricting availability will not prevent acquisition, as evidenced by looting of the Montreal Armory."
The group said there are sufficient regulations now governing gun ownership, and "the solution to misuse of guns is legislation."

The Alberta Fish and Game Association recently sent a similar telegram to the justice department.

Latest United States subsidiary to announce its intention of going Canadian — 25 per cent Canadian, that is — is Reader's Digest Association.

President E. R. Zimmerman said the firm will offer at least 25 per cent of its equity shares to Canadians when the government implements tax changes for advertising in non-Canadian periodicals.

Reader's Digest, Gordon Bell and Time Magazine have been exempted from provisions designed to restrict competition of foreign magazines, although in fact they are the two main forces competing in Canada for advertising against Canadian magazines.

There is room for speculation that Time Inc. will follow with a similar offer to Canada.

'QUIT B.C. POLITICS' BENNETT TELLS FULTON

Conservative leader Davie Fulton should quit B.C. politics because his Columbia River policy has been repudiated by one of his own candidates, Premier W. A. C. Bennett declared Tuesday.

The premier recalled that Mr. Fulton's Columbia policy was to return downstream benefits to Canada.

He also recalled that Dr. Harry Purdy, onetime B.C. Electric official and a Conservative candidate in Vancouver Point Grey last September, was recently quoted as saying the present Columbia plan to sell all the benefits in the U.S. is "superior."

"Dr. Purdy has repudiated Fulton and Fulton should leave provincial politics," Mr. Bennett concluded.

Printing Costs Queried by NDP

A Vancouver printing firm got juicy government accounts because it was a friend of Social Credit, Opposition Leader Robert Strachan charged Tuesday.

Records show that Evergreen Press Ltd. printed 100 copies of the 1962 annual reports for the PGE Railway at $4.53 per copy, Mr. Strachan said.

The PGE printed 200 copies of its own 1963 reports for only 28.25 cents a copy, he disclosed.

PREMIER'S FIGURES

The figures had been given to him by Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

Mr. Strachan asked the premier why there was such a difference as debate opened in the legislature on Mr. Bennett's estimates.

"Why was Evergreen Press given a juicy plum like this?" Mr. Strachan asked.

ELECTION MANIFESTO

"I think the answer is contained in the fact that Evergreen Press printed this," he said, holding up last fall's Social Credit election manifesto.

Canadians 'Economic Vassals'

Canada is becoming a country of vassals under domination of foreign investors, Kaslo-Slocan New Democrat Randolph Harding told the legislature Tuesday to wrap up 12 days of budget debate.

"We are rapidly losing control of Canada's economy, whether we like it or not," Mr. Harding said. "We are losing the right to control our own economic future. But we are not a poor nation; we are a very rich nation."

"We do have a provincial responsibility. The report on Canada's economic prospects stresses the absolute need for our financial institutions to remain in Canadian control... by statute if necessary."

BANK CONTROL

"The setting up of the new bank in British Columbia must bear this in mind, and that share control will remain in Canada under direction of Canadians."

Mr. Harding quoted statistics showing the climb of foreign investment in Canada since 1954. Five years ago, he said, United States, British and European investors controlled 56 per cent of Canada's major industries. In 1963 it was nearly two-thirds, the speaker said.

The royal commission report he referred to earlier stated: "No other nation as highly industrialized as Canada has such a large proportion of industry controlled by non-resident concerns."

That survey was made between 1955-57.

"The picture is much worse now," Mr. Harding said.

He urged the province to take leadership in methods of retaining control of the economy by carrying the fight to dominion-provincial conferences.

FEWER FARMS

Between 1946 and 1963, farm employment in Canada declined to 610,000 from 1,190,000.

"They're a friend of the government—that's why. They printed Social Credit election propaganda."

Evergreen has had $1,216,000 worth of government business since 1956, as well as other contracts from Crown agencies, Mr. Strachan said.

Mr. Bennett made no comment.

Peace R. Dam Among Best, Kiwanis Told

The Peace River dam may not be the biggest in the world but it ranks among the best, the Victoria Kiwanis Club was told Tuesday.

In introducing a film on the second phase of the dam construction—the building of the three diversion tunnels—Ted Fox, manager of the information services department of B.C. Hydro at Vancouver, said: "The Peace Dam isn't the highest, longest or widest but it is one of the leading dams under construction in the world today."

"You have to see it to appreciate its magnitude."

HUGE CONVEYOR

Following the film—its first showing on Vancouver Island—Mr. Fox, a native Victorian, outlined the route of the big conveyor belt which will carry fill for the dam.

The belt will transport material from two hills, each about the size of Mt. Tolmie, 4½ miles to the damsite.

CAESAR'S BUMBLING ASTRONOMERS

Mulcted in Ye Sum Ane Pundis

By LESLIE MILLIN

Unless you men want to be mulcted in ye sum ane pundis, you better watch out.

Leap Year is hippity-hopping on in.

And by a law passed 696 years ago, a man who refuses to marry any woman who asks him in Leap Year can be fined a pound—or less if he can't afford the full rate.

All this because Julius Caesar's astronomers couldn't work out the exact length of the solar year.

They set it at 365 days, six hours—and those six hours added up to a spare day every four years.

For nearly 13 centuries this arrangement apparently caused no alarm until this law was promulgated in Scotland in 1288:

"It is statut and ordaint that during the reign if hir maiest blisist Megeste, for ilk yeare knowne as lepe yeare, ilk maiden ladye of bothe highe and lowe estait shall hae liberte to bespeke ye man she likes, albeit he refuses to take hir to be his lawful wyfe, he shall be mulcted in ye sum ane pundis, or less, as his estait may be . . ."

And that's not all.

The only way a man could wriggle out of it is " . . . except and awis gif he can make it appeare he is betrothed ane other woman, he shall then be free."

French bachelors were slapped with the same law within a few years, and by the 15th century the poison had worked its way right through Europe.

Only this morning the division of vital statistics here reported that as many women are going in to get marriage licences as men—an obviously sinister development.

Correctly known as the Bissextile Year, the 366-day year gets the Leap in its popular name from the fact that after Feb. 29—this coming Saturday—a date "leaps over" a day of the week.

So if you are approached by a maiden ladye of bothe highe and lowe estait saying something about Leap Year, tell her it's the Bissextile Year as far as you are concerned. Then leap.

New Law Asked To Protect B.C. Parklands

Resources Parley Under Way Here

Protection of British Columbia's parklands by legislation was urged here today by Dr. William C. Gibson, formerly of Victoria, who is now head of the department of history of medicine and science at UBC.

"Any new act of our legislature relating to parklands will need all the teeth that can be put into it if the public interest is to be protected."

Addressing the 15th B.C. Natural Resources Conference which opened at the Empress Hotel this morning, Dr. Gibson said:

"The sudden burst of enthusiasm for park development from people not known for their interest in recreation or conservation forces me to ask the question, 'Are these people interested in seeing what they can do for parks, or what parks can do for them?'"

"OLD AS LIFE"

"This so-called resource development is seen to be no simple technical problem, but rather one involving a conflict of interests as old as human life itself."

Dr. Gibson, who was educated at Victoria High School and Victoria College, said B.C. is the envy of many parts of the world because of its great natural wealth.

"There is a sense, however, in which the more discerning of our admirers wonder what our future is once this wealth is exhausted."

Some people, he said, tend to look upon "development" as synonymous with "destruction," forgetting that "the day of the carpetbagger is gone," and sound conservation methods are needed to protect B.C.'s natural heritage.

CALL ON KIERMAN

After Dr. Gibson's address, a spokesman for the B.C. Natural Resources Conference said a delegation will call on Mines and Recreation Minister Kenneth Kierman in his office on Thursday at 11:30 a.m. to discuss his recent proposal that some B.C. parklands should be logged.

More than 200 delegates from many parts of B.C., and a few from Eastern Canada, are attending the three-day conference which was opened by Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes.

Giving the keynote address, John R. Bradfield, Toronto, president of Noranda Mines Ltd., said the federal government of Canada is doing more for development of the mineral industry than "the collective efforts" of all the provincial governments.

"Provincial mines ministers hold a conference every year in different cities and resort centres. There is much good fellowship and exchange of ideas, but very few constructive programs materialize from these meetings."

"Yet there is tremendous scope for mineral resource development in Canada if our provinces provide the proper encouragement."

Mr. Bradfield said he was deeply concerned over the attitude of some labor leaders towards resource development.

"Higher labor costs not only put the brakes on healthy growth, they will cause us to stagnate and eventually die economically if we cannot hold our own in world markets."

"Labor and taxes are the two items which, by far, make up the greatest part of the price of most items by the time they reach the consumer."

New High-Rise For Downtown

16-Storey Hotel Plan Unveiled

Permits to build a 15-storey high-rise office block and a 16-storey hotel-apartment block almost kitty-corner from each other in the Douglas-Humboldt area will be sought from city council Thursday.

Lawyer E. A. Popham today revealed the 16-storey project plans for a triangular site bounded by Penwell, Humboldt and Burdett with one corner touching Douglas where a dry-cleaning store now stands.

The 15-storey project is the previously publicized twin-tower office building designed by John Di Castri for Lochearn Investments Ltd. of Edmonton which bought the old Woodward's department store at Douglas and Courtenay recently.

PERMISSION

Council permission is needed for construction of any building in the downtown core higher than six storeys.

Mr. Popham said the hotel-apartment building is being designed by E. W. Morrison and Associates of Vancouver for a recently incorporated Victoria company named Executive House Ltd. which will carry out the development "as soon as plans are completed."

He said cost of the project "will be in excess of $1,250,000."

SPLIT-LEVEL

Ground floor will be a split-level to conform to the sloping, pie-shaped property at the foot of Cathedral Hill containing a lobby, banquet room, restaurant, office and store space, barber and beauty shop.

The next two floors will contain 32 hotel rooms and the remaining 12 stories will be taken up "with moderately-priced apartment suites," said Mr. Popham. There will be parking for 127 cars.

Encephalitis Shots Given B.C. Horses

A province-wide vaccination of horses against sleeping sickness has been launched at the request of the B.C. agriculture department.

The action was taken after a nine-year-old boy was taken to hospital in Trail with suspected encephalitis—sleeping sickness. Agriculture Minister Frank Richter said today that a horse in the East Kootenays was found to have the disease late last year.

TWO SHOTS

Instructions have gone out to all veterinary surgeons to start a series of two vaccinations for horses.

The disease can be spread by insects, such as mosquitoes and horseflies, Mr. Richter said. The vaccination program should be completed before the insects start to breed—late in March.

NOT PROVED

It has not been proved that the boy at Trail has the disease, Mr. Richter said, but all precautionary measures are being taken.

"Although there may be no danger on Vancouver Island, we feel that a stitch in time saves nine," he added.

Vets charge about $3.25 for two vaccinations for each horse, he said, which the owner has to pay.

The horse that died last year with encephalitis may have come from the Prairies where there was an outbreak last year, Mr. Richter said.

New Life Given HMCS Malahat In Naden Quarters

The naval reserve establishment at Victoria will remain in operation, but not in its former headquarters in the old customs building on Wharf Street.

The department of national defence announced today that HMCS Malahat would not be closed down as announced late last year but would operate from HMCS Naden, Esquimalt.

The reserve establishment at Halifax has also been granted a reprieve. Decision has been deferred on whether to close reserve units at Edmonton, Regina, London and Kitcheener.

Topics of the Day

Victoria Horticultural Society will not hold a spring garden festival this year.

Society president Mrs. Ena McCabe said the decision to drop the festival was made a month ago because of competition from the Chamber of Commerce-backed Spring Flower Festival.

She said: "It's a very sad decision . . . we have been running our festival for about 30 years now."

Secretary Major George A. Wiggan said: "This new date festival is due to be held about three weeks before what would have been the date of our garden festival in May."

Maj.-Gen. Wrinch toured Red Cross Lodge, Red Cross House and the Art and Crafts division of Veterans' Hospital with Maj. Gen. C. R. Stein, president of Red Cross Society, Victoria branch.

A 19-year-old Edmonton youth who registered with a 16-year-old girl as man and wife at a city hotel pleaded guilty in court today to contributing to juvenile delinquency.

Louis Dianocky was remanded to March 5 for probation report and sentence.

The girl went to city police Tuesday and told them she was staying at a local hotel with Dianocky. She said she had been missing from her Edmonton home since Jan. 29.

Ask The Times

Q. Please tell me how the guest list is made up for the state ball at Government House, J.C.

A. Most of the persons invited are on the official precedence list of the province.

This includes the executive council of the provincial legislature, M.L.A.s, M.P.s, mayors, senators, supreme and appeal court judges, heads of armed services, churches and provincial organizations.

Some prominent people whose names do not appear on the precedence list are also invited.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Anybody wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to the Times, addressed to "Ask The Times," Editor, Questions and answers will be published daily.

Aldermen will take their first whacks at the 1964 budget proposals March 9 when estimates are submitted to individual committees for scrutiny. They will finish the job April 13 when the final budget sessions begin with the entire council sitting to set a mill rate.

The League of Roses will meet Thursday evening at 8 in the Orange Hall for entertainment, refreshments and dancing.

Damages of $740 were awarded against George Forrest of East Sooke in Sooke magistrate's court Tuesday.

Mr. Forrest's three dogs killed 14 sheep and 17 lambs, the property of Hubert Thornt, of East Sooke, before they were destroyed.

The law makes a dog owner responsible for any damage done to sheep by his animals.

James L. Harker of Vancouver was committed Tuesday for trial on a charge of theft, after a preliminary hearing of the charge before Magistrate William Ostler.

Harker is alleged to have stolen a painting, possibly the work of the 19th century English painter John Constable, from Isabella Mowat, 665 Niagara.

An inquest will be held Friday into the death of John Warriner, 1017 Burdett, who died Sunday, nine days after being struck by a car.

The inquest will be held at 10 a.m. at Sand's Mortuary, 1803 Quadra.

Victoria Operatic Society has set the dates for its presentation of the "Mikado" for April 28 to May 1.

The Gilbert and Sullivan opera will be presented in Oak Bay Junior High School auditorium under the musical direction of Capt. James Gayfer. Stage director is Tony Nicholson and lead parts will be played by Erika Kurth, Eleanor Duff, Janet Senior, Harry Elsdon, Norman Pyrell, Bert Mansfield, Barry Grimshaw and Robert King.

Second Fort Victoria Scouts will hold a paper-drive Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon in the area bounded by May, Richardson, Cook and Moss streets.

The tourist industry group of the Chamber of Commerce will meet at the Dominion Hotel Thursday, March 5, for dinner at 6:20 p.m.

Latest developments in the planned Spring Flower Festival will be given. Also, Ralph Lee, Seattle, will speak on the coming Sportsmen's Show in Seattle, and Sam Lane will speak on his recent tour of Mexico.

BEST ALL-ROUND MAN award after a 15-week new-entry training course at HMCS Cornwallis has been won by OS Kenneth McAlpine, son of Mr. and Mrs. David McAlpine, Cobble Hill. OS McAlpine attended Cowichan Senior High School prior to being enrolled into the navy last September.

NAVY MEN

Part-Time Bartenders Under Fire

The Bartenders' Union wants to stop naval personnel picking up off-duty money as waiters in Victoria beer parlors and cocktail lounges.

Local 513 secretary John Hennekam has written to naval chief of staff Vice-Admiral H. S. Rayner asking him to keep the navy out of civilian jobs.

"When Admiral Rayner was Flag Officer of the Pacific Fleet," he said, "he gave a directive, on our request, that navy personnel couldn't take civilian jobs."

"We want him to stand by that."

AGGRAVATED

Mr. Hennekam said the employment situation is grave, and is being aggravated by naval NCOs and ratings working up to 36 hours a week in beer parlors and cocktail lounges.

He said there about 30 of them working in Victoria. "Employers prefer them because there is no MSA and unemployment insurance to pay," he said.

"There are only 21 houses in Victoria, and 138 union members. We have 150 part-time men out of work."

Hourly rate for waiters is $1.72, he said. A chief petty officer earns $535 a month in the navy, but still works as a waiter.

Rear-Admiral W. M. Landy more recently told Mr. Hennekam that naval authorities "may not intervene with service personnel engaging in civil employment in their off-duty hours unless, in the opinion of the man's commanding officer, such employment is likely to be detrimental to the interests of the RCN."

FROSTBITERS OUT IN FORCE ON WEEKEND

Close to 100 small craft will spread their sails in Cadboro Bay this weekend for the biggest frostbite series ever held in the Pacific Northwest.

Between 50 and 60 Davidson-class boats are expected for the inter-city series, entered from Royal Vancouver, West Vancouver and Royal Victoria Yacht Clubs.

In the smaller Sabot-class 40 boats are expected, from Kitsilano Yacht Club, Hollyburn Sailing Club, West Vancouver, Nanaimo, Maple Bay, and Royal Victoria Yacht Clubs, and the Royal Canadian Naval Sailing Association Esquimalt Squadron.

Series races will be held from noon to nearly dark Saturday, and from 10 a.m. to about 1 p.m. Sunday.

FIRE GUTS 40-FOOT CRUISER

A fire which broke out aboard the 40-foot cruiser Rmax VI at McKay-Cormack Ltd. Shipyard at 2 a.m. today left the boat still floating but gutted from stern to stern.

Although no estimate of damage has been made, it is believed the cruiser will be written off as a complete loss.

The fire apparently broke out in the galley and spread quickly throughout the boat.

The owner, Walter Mothersell, has been living aboard.

He left the boat to drive some friends to their home. On his return, when he opened the door to the main cabin he was greeted with a burst of flame.

Mr. Mothersell called city firemen who quelled the blaze but not before the interior of the boat was burned away.

They were able to prevent the fire from spreading to other boats moored nearby, and to a marine gas station about 50 feet away.

Korean War Veteran Cayuga Heading for Shipbreakers

One of the best-known destroyers to serve on the West Coast will lose her White Ensign and the prefix "HMCS" Thursday.

HMCS Cayuga, which saw distinguished service in Korean waters and was attached to the RCN Pacific Command from 1948 to 1959, will be advertised for sale by the War Assets Corporation, and undoubtedly will wind up under the ship breaker's hammer.

She was built in Halifax in 1947, a Tribal-class destroyer with long, lean and racy lines, and came to Esquimalt in 1948. She served three tours of duty with United Nations naval forces in the Far East, the last of them ending in December, 1954.

The Cayuga gained fame through her service in the Far East, and notoriety as the ship in which "great impostor" Ferdinand Demara posed as a doctor.

Detective Sergeant Bill Andrews will board the Ss Orcares before it docks at Vancouver, put Calve under arrest and bring him here to stand trial.

Calve was charged in 1961 with unlawfully converting about $2,000 cash. He was released on $2,000 bail but failed to appear for his trial.

City police searched for him but could find no trace. Then, some weeks ago, they learned he was in Australia and was going to be deported from there.

DEAR ABBY . . .

It's Hearsay, Lady!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A neighbor who has been my friend for many years told me the other day that my daughter-in-law passed the remark, "I will be worth a lot of money when my husband's old lady kicks my bucket." I am 58, in good health and have no plans for "kicking any bucket" for a long time. I have quit speaking to my daughter-in-law, but this doesn't seem fair to my son. Should I see my son without my daughter-in-law and continue the cold war? Or should

I start speaking to my daughter-in-law?
ALIVE AND KICKING.
DEAR ABBY: What kind of "friend" would have repeated a remark such as your neighbor quoted? It is even possible that your daughter-in-law never said it. I think you quit speaking to the wrong woman. Talk to your daughter-in-law and straighten it out. Life is too short.
DEAR ABBY: May I put in a good word for beards? My husband has a beautiful beard.

Let's face it. Some men can grow beards and others can't. Mine can, and I wouldn't make him shave it off for the world. Some men envy him because they can't grow one and others because their wives won't let them. A man who is a real man will grow a beard if he wants one. Besides, he is very distinctive. Not one person who has ever met my husband has forgotten him.
PROUD WIFE

DEAR PROUD: You are proud with good reason. A bearded man must be above reproach at all times because he is easily identified by the hair of his chinny chin chin.

DEAR ABBY: I had to write an original story for English Composition and I had so much other stuff to do I didn't get around to it until the last minute. To make a long story short, I asked my father to help me with it and he wrote the whole thing. I copied it word for word and thought it was great. My father happens to be a writer. He has written some pretty good stuff. They even made some movies of a couple of his books. Well, I got my paper back and the teacher had a "C Minus sign" on it. When my father saw it he was boiling mad and asked me to ask the teacher what was wrong with it. I'm afraid if I do she will find out I didn't write it and then I would be in trouble. What should I do?

WRITER'S SON
DEAR SON: Tell your teacher that the story was not your best. (It's true — it wasn't.) And ask her if you can submit another one. Then, do it yourself, son.

Friends Fete Miss Cox

A group of former residents of The Pas, Manitoba, met recently at the Agate Lane home of Mrs. J. R. Pipes, for a shower in honor of Miss Janey Cox, whose marriage to Mr. Tom Chalfour takes place on Thursday.

The gifts, in a decorated basket, were presented to the honor guest with a corsage. The groom-elect's mother, Mrs. A. Chalfour, also received a corsage.

Enjoy Concert—Members of Victoria Symphony Orchestra gave a concert at meeting of Victoria Chapter, Royal Conservatory of Music Alumni, held in the Midland Road home of Mr. and Mrs. George Warwick. Mrs. Thomas Brandon presided. Woodwind trios and solos were given by Reginald Reed, Robert Bergeson, Dr. Woodford Garrigus and Barry Moncur. They were accompanied by Capt. J. M. Gayfer and played one of the accompanist's compositions. Plans were discussed for a rummage sale to be held March 13. It was announced that Sidney Bulman-Fleming would be guest at meeting to be held in May.

Fashion Show, Old-New Styles

Victoria women who possess historic gowns from days of long ago are being asked to participate in a mammoth fashion presentation of old-time and modern styles, during the Daffodil Festival here, March 21 to April 4.

The show will take place on Saturday, March 21, throughout the entire main floor of the Empress Hotel and out on the lawn, weather permitting.

Anyone wishing to show and to wear an historic gown, or any merchant wishing to present the latest fashions, must notify the Chamber of Commerce office not later than March 2.

Heien Beirnes, EV 6-4468, is co-ordinating the modern fashion display; Gita Golby, EV 6-3818, the historic gowns; Avis Walton, EV 3-8730, vice-chairman of the parade committee, is convening the affair.

SHOPPING GUIDE

With a Little Ingenuity Corners Can Be Attractive

By PENNY SAVER

When Penny thinks of home-entertaining, an old saying immediately comes to mind: "No matter where I serve my guests, they always like my kitchen best."

If this is the situation in your home, why not make your kitchen into an attractive, co-ordinated setting.

The easiest way to do this is to add colorful printed curtains and matching tablecloths to this area.

Colorful cottons patterned with flower sprays and baskets of fruit are priced at $1.10 a yard and come in 36-inch width. Colors include reds, deep browns, dark greens and orange against backgrounds of white, yellow, beige and green.

After using prints for curtains, the remainder can be used in strips on a toning plain color for a tablecloth.

Another cotton in the same width and priced at 98 cents is patterned with kitchen aids. Petit point prints are also popular in the kitchen. Price is $1.10 a yard.

Children's playrooms and bedrooms can also be made more attractive with special curtains and trim on toy boxes or dressers. Children's prints come in 36-inch widths and are priced from 55 to 69 cents a yard.

Ideal for the baby's room is a blue and pink design which is bordered in flowers and has large handkerchief patches designed with donkeys throughout.

Either boy or girl will be delighted when they find curtains pictured with carefree bears romping across their windows.

If you are interested in adding an extra touch to the favorite room in your home, call Penny at 382-3131 for name and location of shop which sells these fabrics.

Visitor OKs Local Services

By PAT DUFOUR

Community services, correlated by the Community Welfare Council of Greater Victoria, came under a professional out-of-town eye this week. And, they were not found wanting.

The professional eye belongs to Miss Florence Philpott, Ottawa, executive consultant on social planning for Canadian Welfare Council. She says she is "terribly impressed" by the council's work, "especially on its survey of services for the handicapped child and its efforts to co-ordinate the work of various groups."

Miss Philpott is an ardent exponent of volunteer organizations. "It is vitally important that volunteer organizations be virile and strong and that they work with governmental authorities in a solid business-like partnership."

This dedicated woman describes herself as "an old war horse," having graduated from the Toronto School of Social Work and spent 30 years as a social worker.

Lauding the part that the volunteer worker plays in the community, Miss Philpott feels that Canada is in an enviable position, compared to other countries where governmental organization dominates the field of social welfare.

"Japan is an example. It wasn't until after the Second World War that citizens were permitted to take a part in the social concerns of their communities."

"I visited Tokyo four years ago to head up a workshop for volunteers. People flocked in the thousands to join. Gandhi did the same thing in India when he encouraged villagers to set up committees to deal with their community problems."

MRS. SCURRAH WINS AWARD

Word has been received in Victoria that Mrs. Percy B. Scurrah has been named by the Millinery Institute of America in New York as one of the year's best hatted women in America. Each year, a number of women in many communities of North America are submitted by newspaper fashion editors, television fashion commentators and magazine fashion writers. The "best hatted" woman in each community is chosen and receives an award in "recognition of consistent and tasteful selection of millinery." This is the second "best hatted" award for Victoria. Last year, Mrs. Stuart Keate was amongst the winners.

Prior to assuming her present position, Miss Philpott spent 16 years as vice-president and executive director for social planning for the Welfare Council of Metropolitan Toronto.

Prior to taking up her present position last April, Miss Philpott spent five years studying the needs and resources of metropolitan Toronto.

"We tried to evaluate for the next five years. We have found, by experience, that it's necessary to plan far ahead in this field nowadays."

Contrary to popular conception, Miss Philpott denies that there is much danger in the overlapping of services provided by various community-minded groups.

"We discovered that the overlapping is not nearly so great as the general public thinks. Actually, the gaps are far more serious. We found practically no duplication in Toronto."

One problem brought to light by the survey, was lack of co-operation between the various agencies.

"Going along with the general trend, the agencies are becoming highly specialized. It became apparent that they should be housed under the same roof or close together so as to be able to cope with the various problems of a single family."

As executive consultant for the national council, Miss Philpott is impressed by the increasing interest of government groups in the social problems of their communities.

"Many of the municipal councils are now approaching us, asking for advice on how to set up welfare councils. This is an encouraging sign."

Miss Philpott leaves Victoria tonight for Ottawa for another session at her desk.

But, she admits, the session may be of short duration.

"I go where I'm invited and there is a lively awareness of social welfare in Canada today."

Wedding in First United Church

After a honeymoon trip to the mainland, Mr. and Mrs. Barry Ernest Romain are making their home at 2640 Cook Street.

Rev. J. D. Morris officiated at the marriage in First United Church of Marjorie Ann Rainsford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Rainsford, 1112 Finlayson Avenue, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Romain, 1415 Ryan Street. Pink and white flowers were at the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full-length gown, styled with lily-point sleeves and a skirt that was slightly en train. Lace appliques enhanced the neckline and front of gown. The full-length veil of Belgian lace was held by a satin headband. Yellow roses were in her bouquet.

Matron of honor Mrs. L. Blake and bridesmaid Miss Darlene Noble chose gold peau de sole gowns in short length with back panels attached to the waistline with touches of lace that repeated trim of bodice. Yellow roses were pinned on their white maribou muffs that matched their headpieces.

Tiny flower girl was Julie Rainsford, the bride's cousin. She wore a pale green brocade frock and maribou headpiece.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

After 8 Weeks of BIP, You Should Be Nearing Your Goal

This is the eighth week since my Eight Week Beauty Improvement Plan ran in this newspaper. Since then I have given one day each week to bringing more information and encouragement to the women who are following BIP (Beauty Improvement Plan). I realize that this is not the last week for all of you because you did not all begin at the same time.

Many women wished to lose 15 or 20 pounds during the eight-week period. Others have more pounds to lose. I am receiving letters from readers asking if it is all right to continue with the plan until they are the correct weight. Surely, do so.

When the scales tell you the happy news, that you have reached your ideal weight, add 300 calories to your daily intake. If you continue to lose, add another 200 calories. When you begin to gain, cut back a bit. In this way you can find out for yourself just how many calories you require to maintain your perfect poundage. So many factors enter into the calculations, such as physical activity and metabolism, that this is probably the best way to determine the calories you require.

If you counted calories you lose weight, but if you neglected the exercises, your measurements may still be out of proportion even though you are smaller all over.

If you analyzed your measurements according to directions in the booklet and measured yourself before starting BIP, and then measure yourself at the end of this important eight weeks, you will know which exercise you need. Concentrate on those for a few weeks to bring your measurements into more perfect ratio.

If any of you missed my Beauty Improvement Plan and would like to see how much you can improve your appearance in eight weeks time under my direction, send for my BIP Kit. It gives you complete directions and also includes my unique BIP Weight Chart. You can chart your weight on this and watch your beauty line rise as your weight drops. If you would like to have the Kit, send 25 cents (plus 15 cents for postage and handling) and your name and address to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

SOLUTION FRIDAY

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — It's only fair that I notify you that Susan Oliver, the girl who got a man away from Liz Taylor—the man was Eddie Fisher and it was in "Butterfield 8"—becomes a great big star in 1964.

"Honey"—a prominent Hollywood astrologer told her—"This is going to be a year of major emergence for you."

Then the astrologer kissed her.

Which was all right, as the astrologer was one of the tops in America, and her mother, Ruth Hale Oliver.

Susan often says "Phooey, mother, on your astrology," but she told me when she was here doing a TV role for "The Defenders" that she couldn't say phooey to that. Further, the stars forecast marriage... but her mother told her, "Please don't tell anybody about that."

"It puts men off if they think you know all about them and what's going to happen. They run like thieves."

Susan's major emergence may be in the Joe Pasternak picture with Connie Francis, "Looking for Love," due out in June.

So remember you heard it here that Susan's going to be a blockbuster. And gee, if she took Eddie Fisher away from Liz, maybe she could take Richard Burton away from her and... WOW...

THE MIDNIGHT EARL...

The big news in Hollywood is that Dinah Shore expects to return to NBC-TV, doing specials next season; negotiations are on now... Jane Powell auditioned for the Gertrude Lawrence role in the B'way musical, "Mrs. A."

The Beatles were startled by comic Marty Allen's hairdo, wider than theirs; one of 'em gasped, "Gawd—is it for real?"

Fred Astaire will return to movies for the first time in years, for producer Joe Pasternak, with Ann-Margret as his partner... Ella Fitzgerald accepted the jazz poll award from Playboy, and cracked, "Sorry I forgot to wear my bunny outfit!"

Jack Cassidy says he and wife Shirley Jones had to turn down a 25G-a-week Las Vegas cafe bid—he'll be busy in a B'way show.

Indian Art Could Bring Surging Life

B.C. Indian artists have developed a distinctive quality by going to "the very heart of nature" for their subjects, George Clutesi of Alberni told a meeting in the Douglas Building cafeteria last week.

Mr. Clutesi, a native teacher in Alberni's residential school for Indians, was guest speaker at a meeting jointly sponsored by the Victoria branch, Canadian Authors' Association and the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society.

The meeting honored the 25th anniversary of the Indian Arts Society, founded by the late Dr. Alice Ravenhill.

"The northwest coastal Indian has developed an art which is unique," Mr. Clutesi said. "He studies nature closely and he uses techniques which depend on innate powers of conception rather than on practice training."

"If rejuvenated, this type of art could bring the Indian back to surging life."

Mrs. Mary Carr Travis, president of the Victoria branch, Canadian Authors' Association, chaired the meeting. Dr. Douglas Leechman introduced Mr. Clutesi and Judge J. B. Clearhugh expressed thanks.

Miss E. V. Prangnell, president of the Indian Arts Society, and Mrs. A. J. Tullis, a former president, also paid tribute to Mr. Clutesi's work as an artist.

Sternwheelers, Viking Ships To Use Causeway

A growing fleet of tourist boats will use the Causeway as a terminal.

Sherwood Forest Playlands Ltd. has applied for permission to use the Inner Harbor floats as a base for two proposed replicas of Viking Longboats. They will serve the company's proposed amusement park scheduled for construction this summer on the Gorge.

"The ships will run on a half-hour shuttle to our dock landing in the Selkirk Waters," wrote promoter Milton A. Tisdale.

"It is our intention to run the Viking ships as a convention service attraction from Sherwood Forest up the Gorge Waters to Portage Inlet during the winter and spring season."

Other boats that will be operating from the Inner Harbor with council approval this year include two stern-wheelers, the regular water tour launch and a charter sport fishing cruiser.

Liquor, Love And Teen-Agers

Teen-agers who drink increase their chances of becoming problem drinkers in later life. In March Reader's Digest read why liquor and sex are such "frequent bed-fellows." The tragedies that can result from teen-age drinking are revealed in an informative article—"Booze and You." Get your copy of Reader's Digest today.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Donna Blackwood, age 7, of Dallas, Texas, for her question:

How do they make paper?

The first paper was made long ago in China. The inventor took the stringy stems and stalks from plants. He smashed and bashed them into a tangle of tough threads and mixed them into a soggy soup. Then he used a sieve to drain away the water. The matted tangle of plant fibers dried and became a flat page of paper.

Anybody can make a sheet of paper. You can use weedy plants that cost nothing, and the job is easy. But if you used this recipe and toiled all year, you could not make all the paper and paper products you need. This is why modern paper-making is done on a very grand scale. Almost 30 million tons of paper goods must be made every year to supply our needs.

Forests of hemlocks and

Chips Digested Into Pulp

Whirling knives slice the woody logs into bite-sized chips. The chips are sent to a tank of strong chemicals where they are digested into a mushy pulp. Then streams of water wash out the gums and lumpy knots. Bleaching chemicals are added.

There are more steps to smooth and refine the soupy pulp. At last the tangled fibers are scooped up and drained in sieves. The soggy layers are rolled on and on through heavy, warm rollers and finally are wound into a giant roll of finished paper. It may be blank newspaper, thick wrapping paper or crisp note paper.

There are thousands of recipes for making all the different paper and paper products we use. Some will become heavy cardboard and pasteboard. The same woody logs are the basic ingredient used to make most of our paper products. But in making certain fine note papers, rags of linen and cotton are added to the woody pulp. Paper which contains these materials has a firm, stiff texture, and it wears longer than papers made only from woody pulp.

Flood Control Generator Asked For Oak Bay

Oak Bay works committee chairman Fred Robinson recommended Monday night that council purchase a $300 emergency generator for flood control use during storms and power failures.

The generator was described by works superintendent Ralph Futcher as a nearly-new rebuilt machine and adaptable for installation in a caterpillar unit.

Since Oak Bay is so dependent on electricity for drainage it was considered necessary expenditure.

Coun. Robinson also recommended that $1,000 be placed in the estimates to have the unit completed.

V.I. ROUNDUP

Duncan Gets Most For Wellburn Logging Exhibit

A widely-known private collection of old logging locomotives and rolling stock is expected to go on public display this year as an outdoor museum at Duncan.

G. R. Wellburn of Deerholme, four miles west of Duncan, has assembled the collection with more than a score of locomotives, yarders and wagons.

Three cities—Victoria, Nanaimo and Duncan—have been vying to obtain the collection for permanent public display and unofficial word is that Duncan was given the nod by Mr. Wellburn.

The recently-formed Cowichan Valley Forest Museum will hold a meeting in Duncan Wednesday to complete negotiations with Mr. Wellburn, a spokesman said Tuesday. Details of its proposal were not revealed.

Commented Mayor R. B. Wilson here: "This never really was a contest and Duncan has our best wishes."

"The important thing is that this valuable collection will be properly preserved and put on public display."

NANAIMO—James Morris, 76, was pronounced dead at Nanaimo Regional Hospital Tuesday after his car went out of control, ran through a service station lot and collided with another vehicle.

Coroner Russ Inkster said the man had not suffered a heart attack prior to the accident as was previously believed.

Mr. Inkster said an autopsy revealed other injuries probably caused by the accident but no evidence of a fatal attack.

An inquest was to open today and adjourn to March 11.

NANAIMO—An inquiry in the death of Tom Brown, 19, of Cedar, whose body was found by RCMP patrol boat Sidney on Saturday, ruled that death was due to "drowning and exposure."

The inquiry was conducted by Coroner Russ Inkster. He said no sudden illness of any type was evident. It is assumed the young man fell overboard.

Brown left Pyraides Island Friday in a 15-foot boat with a 12-hp outboard motor for Blackberry Point on Valdes Island, about a mile away. The youth was wearing a life preserver when found the next day near his boat. The motor was still in gear.

PORT ALBERNI—Funds are being raised by friends and neighbors here to assist a family of a multiple sclerosis victim whose home was damaged by fire Sunday.

A leak in a propane gas line is believed to be the cause of the fire. Damage was estimated at $8,500 for home and household goods of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Cooper.

Mr. Cooper, who is confined to a wheelchair, and Mrs. Cooper were at Remploy Handicapped Centre when the fire broke out.

VISITORS SEE NORTHWEST AS A UNIT

VANCOUVER (CP)—The president of the American Automobile Association says tourists come to the Pacific Northwest to see everything—not just one city.

"If we gear our advertising and service to this, we'll get more visitors than if we specialize in one place," George F. Kachlein, Seattle, said in an interview Tuesday.

GOVERNMENT SIZES UP CLOTHING TAX EASING

Increased exemptions from sales tax on children's clothing are being surveyed by the provincial finance department, Premier W. A. C. Bennett announced Tuesday.

He made the statement in answer to a plea from Lois Haggan (NDP—Grand Forks-Greenwood) in the legislature.

"The danger is," he told her, "that parents wear children's clothes."

This applied especially to ladies, he said, but remarked that he took a size 6½ hat—below the limit of size 7 allowed tax free.

Recent changes in the limits allow tax free clothing up to size 14½ for girls and 15 with a 33-inch waist for boys, Mr. Bennett said.

"The department that looks after this—the finance department—is making another survey in the hope of increasing the sizes," the premier said.

Passing Out Parade Held for Bartenders

The first 48 Victoria bartenders to take a government-sponsored course in bartending received their certificates Sunday.

The course was started in November after the passage last March of Bill 31, requiring government certification for all tradesmen.

Two bartending courses, each six weeks long and costing students $10, have been held.

All 48 local bartenders and waiters involved passed. Courses were held in dress, manners, method and other requirements for the job.

The next class will start in September.

Certificates were presented by instructor Larry Walle at Union Centre, 2730 Quadra.

Classes were held at the Douglas, Ingraham, Tally Ho and Royal Olympic.

Royal Olympic manager Nick Renard said today he considered the courses of primary importance to the industry.

"It has lent a lot of dignity, and upgraded establishments that have had staff take the course," he said.

"Patrons have commented that they have seen a remarkable difference in attitude and deportment of the men."

"I consider the government and the union have done a marvellous job in instituting the course."

Fire Call Charges Resisted

Each emergency fire call cost View Royal more than $30 last year, and the fire protection district is balking at a Saanich suggestion this should be upped to $38.

Both View Royal and Langford fire protection districts wrote to Saanich finance committee protesting an annual increase in charge from $600 to $840.

Their budgets for 1964 have already been set by the provincial government, and they can't afford the increase, they said in letters read to a committee meeting Monday night.

Along with three other outside districts, their emergency calls go through the ultra-modern alarm recording room in the Saanich fire hall.

Their protests got short shrift from committee chairman Coun. Joseph Casey.

"Do they think the people of Saanich should bear the extra cost?" he said.

"They can quit buying, if they wish."

He pointed out the combined income from the five outside districts isn't enough to pay the salary of a single alarm room operator.

Committee invited representatives of the fire protection districts to a meeting to iron out the problem.

Examination For Suspect

VANCOUVER (CP)—A psychiatric examination was ordered Monday for Edward Elroy Hunt, 58, brought here from Toronto to face a non-capital murder charge.

He appeared in magistrate's court after being returned under police guard and was remanded until March 2.

He is charged with the April, 1962, death of Edith Dyson during a skid road party. The woman's body was found in a lane 60 feet below a broken window of a hotel.

RAISED $1 MILLION FOR OXFAM

Love Those Rich Beatles!

Don't underestimate the Beatles — those mop-cropped songsters who invaded North America recently.

They have raised more than $1,000,000 for the Oxford Committee for Famine Relief (Oxfam) which collects funds for the relief of starving peoples all over the world — and they're still giving a lot of their earnings to charity.

"Those dear old Beatles are up to all kinds of good causes," says Lynn Ten Kate (pronounced Karter) who represents the Oxford Committee for Famine Relief in Canada.

An attractive English woman, with bee-hive hair-do, Mrs. Kate is on a fund-raising tour of Canada.

"It started as a small movement," she said. "Oxford University students toured the pubs asking people to give as much to world charity as they spent on beer, gin and whisky. They're still doing it and the response is amazing."

A former actress and TV songstress, Mrs. Kate (Karter) said she started working for Oxfam in England because she had a guilty conscience.

"I felt I'd had everything my own way," she said, "a good home, a good education—almost everything a girl could ask. I wanted to work for a charity which had no strings attached."

NES Will Be Transferred To Labor Dept.

OTTAWA (UPI)—Labor Minister Allan MacEachen Monday announced plans to transfer the National Employment Service into his department to help coordinate government manpower and employment programs.

A three-man committee headed by George Davidson, chief of the bureau of government organization, will bring about the service's transfer from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

The change, one of the main recommendations of the Gill inquiry into the Unemployment Insurance Act, had been expected but was omitted from last week's throne speech.

Her representative in Victoria is Norman H. Stephens of 974 Victoria Street.

Millions on staff and advertising. Oxfam relied mainly on volunteer effort."

Mrs. Kate said Oxfam raised $9,000,000 for underprivileged peoples in 1963 and will probably raise more in 1964. The charity has established a Canadian head office in Toronto and is canvassing all over the country.

On Saturday Mrs. Kate addressed a meeting of the Society of Friends (Quakers) in Victoria. On Monday she had talks with Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes — a patron of Oxfam; Roman Catholic Bishop De Roo and Anglican Archbishop Harold Sexton.

"They are all very sympathetic to our cause," said Mrs. Kate, who takes her name from a Dutchman who works for a British engineering firm.

Her representative in Victoria is Norman H. Stephens of 974 Victoria Street.

RUSS WHEAT LOADING STARTS ON WEEKEND

WASHINGTON (AP)—Waterfront unions are ready to resume loading ships with U.S. wheat for Russia by the end of the week after ending a 10-day boycott.

The White House announced late Tuesday that the unions had agreed to load the wheat after President Johnson pledged that—in all future grain deals with Russia—half of the cargo would be carried in U.S. ships.

Liston Injury Probed In Clay's Upset Win

Purse Held Up Pending Report

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—State Attorney Richard Gerstein launched an investigation today into Cassius Clay's surprise heavyweight title victory over the heavily favored Sonny Liston here Tuesday night.

He announced, "I have asked the Miami Beach Boxing Commission to make available all records and medical papers relating to Liston."

Clay, a 7-1 underdog, won on a seventh round technical knockout at the Miami Beach Convention Hall when Liston was unable to answer the bell for the seventh round because of an injured left shoulder.

Gerstein said the Miami Beach Boxing Commission records and papers will be turned over to the county medical examiner "to determine if there is justification for further investigation."

He expected to get the records within the next 24 hours.

Gerstein emphasized that the Florida state law provides a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison for anyone convicted of altering the outcome of an athletic contest.

Gerstein's announcement was made at almost the same time when the new 22-year-old champion from Louisville was holding a news conference in the veterans room of the same convention hall where he scored his amazing triumph.

'I Just Do It for the Money'

Clay said jokingly, "I'm talking about retiring now. I don't like to fight. I don't like to hit and get hit. I just do it for the money. Sugar Ray Robinson never liked it either."

Robinson, a former welterweight and middleweight champion, was with Cassius when Cassius put on his wacky weigh-in act Tuesday and was fined $2,500 by the boxing commission for disorderly conduct.

Clay's remarks about retiring brought laughter from sportswriters who recalled that he fought more than 150 amateur bouts—for fun—and won the Olympic light-heavyweight championship in 1960.

Cassius said he may remain in Miami Beach, for about a week and then rest for a couple more weeks before deciding on the future.

The Miami Beach commission withheld the $250,000 "live gate" portion of Liston's money pending the report of two orthopedic surgeons appointed by the commission to examine Liston today.

The surgeons' report was expected later in the day. Tuesday night, a team of eight doctors at St. Francis Hospital said that Liston had suffered injury sufficient to justify termination of the bout.

Sonny Says He Wanted to Continue

Liston said today that he begged to continue the fight but was overruled by his handlers.

"At the end of the sixth round Willie Reddish told me to keep my left up high," the crestfallen one-time ring destroyer told a press conference. "I said I couldn't. He said I'm going to stop the fight. I said 'no' but they stopped the fight anyhow."

The former champion said

he hurt his arm when he threw a left hook in the first round.

"I felt a twinge—I knew my arm went out," he said. "My whole glove felt heavy like it was full of water. When I tried to raise my arm it felt like lead."

Liston said he felt sure he would have caught up with Clay and knocked him out had it not been for the unusual injury.

Liston was reluctant to give his conqueror much credit for the tainted victory.

"I don't think he is as good as for instance Eddie Machen or Zora Foley," Sonny said. "He didn't put up as good a fight as Patterson."

New Union Proposal Given to Shipyards

Striking shipyard unions have presented to the "big three" companies their latest proposal for strike settlement.

The proposal, made this morning in Vancouver through mediator Reg Clements, chief conciliation officer, was first made in the early stages of the union-management negotiations prior to the sitting of a conciliation board last year.

increases of 28-cents plus a two-cent contributory welfare scheme in the second year.

The new proposal asks a two-year contract with increases each year of 15 cents. It seeks a welfare plan to be set up immediately on signing of the agreement, with $2,500 death benefits and $40 per week sickness benefits.

The proposal also asks three weeks vacation after 10 years. Company representatives were not present, but the pro-

Concessions Offered

GENEVA (AP)—The United States made what it called "important concessions" today to the European Common Market in an effort to break the deadlock threatening the forthcoming Kennedy round of tariff-cutting negotiations.

NICOSIA (AP)—Plans by President Makarios to increase his Greek-Cypriot security force and disarm all irregulars on Cyprus has injected an explosive new issue into the crisis in the eastern Mediterranean.

The Greek-Cypriot president said his order Tuesday to create a special 5,000-man police force was designed "not only for the island's security and return to normalcy, but also to face any other unpleasant situation."

In a move obviously aimed at the Turkish-Cypriot minority opposing his Greek-Cypriot regime, Makarios said any Cypriot carrying arms illegally would be disarmed and anyone attempting to import arms "will be prosecuted."

Turkish-Cypriots immediately challenged the constitutionality of the order, which would raise the legal Greek-Cypriot armed strength to nearly 7,000 men, about the size of the British peacekeeping force on Cyprus.

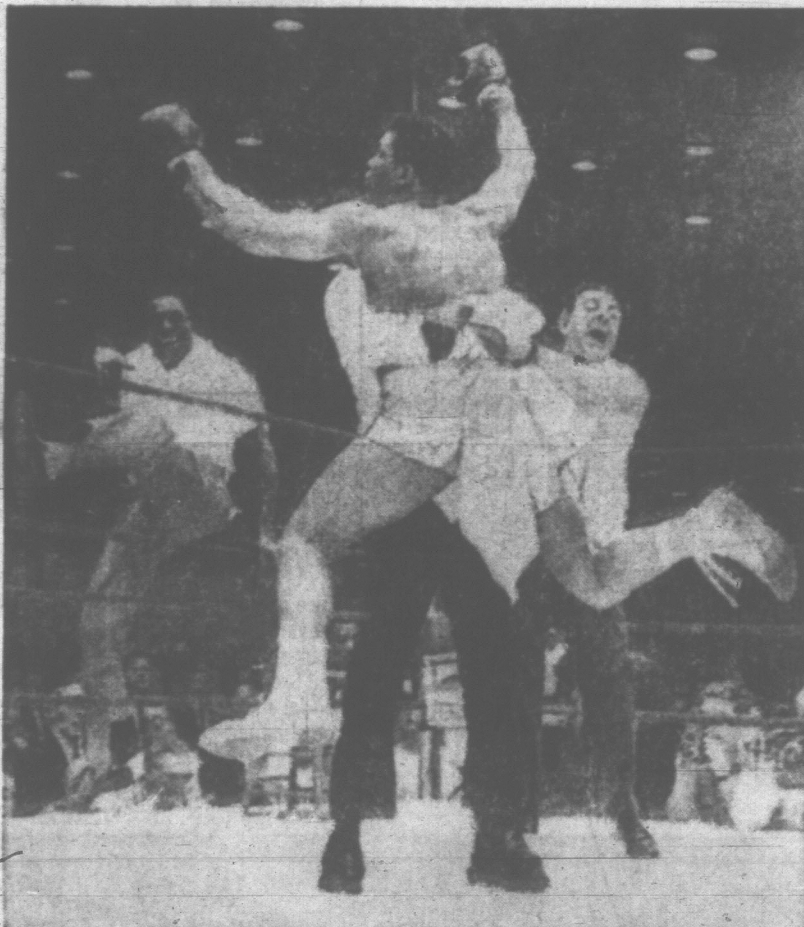

The Turkish-Cypriots said that under the constitution the special force would have to be made up of 60-per-cent Greek-Cypriots and 40-per-cent Turkish-Cypriots.

WELCOME TO JOIN

Greek-Cypriot officials said Turkish-Cypriots would be welcome to join the force if they swear allegiance to the Makarios government and promise to defend the island's independence and territorial integrity. But it was unlikely that any of the Turkish faction would want to join such a force.

The Greek-Cypriots outnumber the Turkish faction 4 to 1, and their armed irregulars have been estimated to number

Youth in China and U.S. 'Both Strong Conformists'

WASHINGTON (CP)—Dr. Wilder Penfield, famed Montreal neurosurgeon, says he has seen no evidence of malnutrition in Red China.

Instead, he has found the Chinese have made great progress in eradicating disease, with hospitals and medical schools that are "absolutely first class."

"The Chinese may not have enough to eat but they have enough to maintain a vigorous life," Dr. Penfield added Tuesday as he addressed a selected group of U.S. correspondents, editorial writers and commentators.

With him were Dr. Denis Lazure, director of child psychiatry at Montreal's L'Hopital Sainte-Justine, and Dr. Geoffrey C. Andrew, executive director of the Canadian Universities Foundation, Ottawa.

The three Canadians, all of whom made trips to the mainland in recent years, are delivering a number of talks in this capital as part of an international seminar sponsored by the American Friends Service Committee, a Quaker organization.

YOUTH SIMILAR

Dr. Lazure said he saw something strikingly similar between the youth of the U.S. and Red China—both were strong conformists.

Dr. Andrew said he was mainly impressed with the purity of nature of Chinese society, rather than its Communist fabric. He also felt the exodus of Chinese technicians had slowed China's technological advance.

At one point in his travels, he noted the Chinese had built huge irrigation systems but had failed to measure the historical pattern of rainfall in that area so that ditches were half-filled or completely dry.

The old sense of isolation, often associated with China, was fast disappearing. In medicine, the Chinese were making use of a lot of Western ideas and were constantly in search of the latest medical information, Dr. Penfield said.

Dr. Lazure, studying the impact of the communes on social life, said Chinese children showed little anti-social behavior. Their rigid and clear-cut training gave them a clear understanding of what society expected of them. There appeared to be no problem of juvenile delinquency. A shift of the child's allegiance from parents to the state carried with it no feeling of hostility towards the parents.

Rather, he said, the younger generation seemed to feel sorry that the older folks didn't have the same opportunities for reconstruction now being undertaken.

OFF TO CHINA is former Tory agriculture minister Alvin Hamilton. He said today he had received and accepted an invitation from the Chinese committee for the promotion of international trade.

There'll be a lot more wrenched shoulders t'day, with bettors cryin' on 'em.

So Liston is humbled at th' feet of Clay.

Some day we'll hev t' choose b'tween roses an' high rises.

In Our HOUSE

By Arthur Mayse

One danger of forensics is that the orator may end his pitch with foot in mouth, and this all but befell a high-spiralling premier and minister of finance on Tuesday evening.

"The rich grow richer," declared The Hon. William Andrew Cecil Bennett, "and the poor...uh...ah..."

"...grow poorer," supplied Cranbrook NDP Leo Nimsick helpfully.

"Everybody richer and nobody poorer," Mr. Bennett finished, his stride recovered. "That's Social Credit philosophy!"

Apart from the one near contretemps, the premier's sword-dance above his party's trophies was executed with vim and skill enough to elicit a sardonic "Hallelujah!" from one NDP listener, and from North Van logger-Liberal Gordon Gibson, a sotto voce growl:

'What a Blast!'

"Judas Priest... what a blast!"

We are into estimates now—the apportioning to departments and services of the thumping $395 million-plus budget. If this third phase of parliament's deliberations moves as expected, members will end their session on March 13, which this year happens to fall with sinister impact upon a Friday.

There is, however, a good deal of troubled water still to flow under the bridge; and before the House rises, we may see what started as a minor issue flare into a major tussle.

This is the projected logging of Strathcona Park's fir stands, a move which a log-hungry plywood industry has urged on a hitherto-resistant government for years.

Unless I miss my guess, the heaviest punch against new parks branch boss Kenneth Kierman's 'harvesting' plan will be swung by spunky Liberal Leader Ray Perrault.

Best Debater

Now, setting crystal balls aside, let's backtrack for a glimpse of the British Columbia legislature's most effective debater in action.

This is Attorney-General Robert William Bonner, QC, who fetched the budget debate to its close.

From my press gallery corner directly above Mr. Bonner, the foreshortened view reveals a neatly-tourowed crown, a band of spotless collar, and notably straight shoulders in a charcoal grey jacket.

The A-G's hands are sometimes clasped behind his coat-tails, sometimes emphasizing a point with disciplined grace. He has one mannerism which I haven't noted elsewhere: his right forefinger is occasionally clasped in his left hand.

His voice is excellent, his delivery a model which more than one mush-mouthed backbencher from the backbenches might study to his profit.

Incisive, Correct

Here, parrying an opposition broadsword with a practiced rapier, stands one of the few men in our House possessed of a true, parliamentary courtliness.

He is incisive. He is unfailingly correct, and his knowledge of legislative procedure, I'm told, is a match for that of parliament's venerable clerk, E. K. De Beck.

No crowd-pleaser, Mr. Bonner lacks the surface warmth for that, and at times too plainly impatient of duller minds. But in debate, head-and-shoulders the legislature's best.

CAESAR'S BUMBLING ASTRONOMERS

By LESLIE MILLIN

Unless you men want to be mulcted in ye sum ane pundis, you better watch out.

Leap Year is hippity-hopping on in. And by a law passed 696 years ago, a man who refuses to marry any woman who asks him in Leap Year can be fined a pound—or less if he can't afford the full rate.

All this because Julius Caesar's astronomers couldn't work out the exact length of the solar year. They set it at 365 days, six hours—and those six hours added up to a spare day every four years.

For nearly 13 centuries this arrangement apparently caused no alarm until this law was promulgated in Scotland in 1283:

"It is statut and ordaint that during the reign if hir maist blissit Megeste, for ilk yeare knowne as lepe yeare, ilk maiden ladye of bothe highe and lowe estait shall hae liberte to bespeke ye man she likes, albeit he refuses to talk hir to be his lawful wyfe, he shall be mulcted in ye sum ane pundis, or less, as his estait may be . . ."

And that's not all. The only way a man could wriggle out of it is " . . . except and awis gif he can make it appear he is betrothed ane other woman, he shall then be free."

French bachelors were slapped with the same law within a few years, and by the 15th century the poison had worked its way right through Europe.

Only this morning the division of vital statistics here reported that as many women are going in to get marriage licences as men—an obviously sinister development.

Correctly known as the Bissexile Year, the 366-day year gets the Leap in its popular name from the fact that after Feb. 29—this coming Saturday—a date "leaps over" a day of the week.

So if you are approached by a maiden ladye of bothe highe and lowe estait saying something about Leap Year, tell her it's the Bissexile Year as far as you are concerned. Then leap.

Topics of the Day

Victoria Horticultural Society will not hold a spring garden festival this year.

Society president Mrs. Ena McCabe said the decision to drop the festival was made a month ago because of competition from the Chamber of Commerce-backed Spring Flower Festival.

She said: "It's a very sad decision . . . we have been running our festival for about 30 years now." Secretary Major George A. Wigan said: "This new daffodil festival is due to be held about three weeks before what would have been the date of our garden festival in May."

Maj.-Gen. Wrinch toured Red Cross Lodge, Red Cross House and the Art and Crafts division of Veterans' Hospital with Maj. Gen. C. R. Stein, president of Red Cross Society, Victoria branch.

A 19-year-old Edmonton youth who registered with a 16-year-old girl as man and wife at a city hotel pleaded guilty in court today to contributing to juvenile delinquency.

Louis Dianocky was remanded to March 5 for probation report and sentence.

The girl went to city police Tuesday and told them she was staying at a local hotel with Dianocky. She said she had been missing from her Edmonton home since Jan. 29.

Ask The Times

Q. Please tell me how the guest list is made up for the state ball at Government House, J.C.

A. Most of the persons invited are on the official precedence list of the province.

This includes the executive council of the provincial legislature, MLAs, MPs, mayors, senators, supreme and appeal court judges, heads of armed services, churches and provincial organizations.

Some prominent people whose names do not appear on the precedence list are also invited.

Aldermen will take their first whacks at the 1964 budget proposals March 9 when estimates are submitted to individual committees for scrutiny. They will finish the job April 13 when the final budget sessions begin with the entire council sitting to set a mill rate.

The League of Roses will meet Thursday evening at 8 in the Orange Hall for entertainment, refreshments and dancing.

Damages of $740 were awarded against George Forrest of East Sooke in Sooke magistrate's court Tuesday.

Mr. Forrest's three dogs killed 14 sheep and 17 lambs, the property of Hubert Thornt, of East Sooke, before they were destroyed.

The law makes a dog owner responsible for any damage done to sheep by his animals.

James L. Harker of Vancouver was committed Tuesday for trial on a charge of theft, after a preliminary hearing of the charge before Magistrate William Ostler.

Harker is alleged to have stolen a painting, possibly the work of the 19th century English painter John Constable, from Isabella Mowat, 665 Niagara.

An inquest will be held Friday into the death of John Warriner, 1017 Burdett, who died Sunday, nine days after being struck by a car.

The inquest will be held at 10 a.m. at Sand's Mortuary, 1803 Quadra.

Victoria Operatic Society has set the dates for its presentation of the "Mikado" for April 28 to May 1.

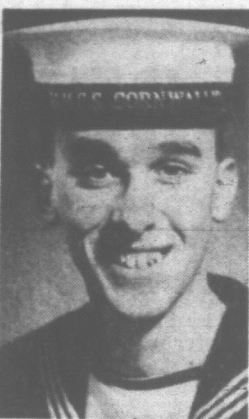

The Gilbert and Sullivan opera will be presented in Oak Bay Junior High School auditorium under the musical direction of Capt. James Gayfer. Stage director is Tony Nicholson, and lead parts will be played by Erika Kurth, Eleanor Duff, Janet Senior, Harry Elsdon, Norman Tyrell, Bert Mansfield, Barry Grimshaw and Robert King.

School budgets for Greater Victoria District 61 and Saanich District 63 have been approved by Saanich finance committee.

The 1964-65 District 61 budget is for $10,443,073, and District 63 anticipates spending $1,426,268 in the same period.

The tourist industry group of the Chamber of Commerce will meet at the Dominion Hotel Thursday, March 5, for dinner at 6:20 p.m.

Latest developments in the planned Spring Flower Festival will be given. Also, Ralph Lee, Seattle, will speak on the coming Sportsmen's Show in Seattle, and Sam Lane will speak on his recent tour of Mexico.

BEST ALL-ROUND MAN awarded after a 15-week new-entry training course at HMCS Cornwallis has been won by OS Kenneth McAlpine, son of Mr. and Mrs. David McAlpine, Cobble Hill. OS McAlpine attended Cowichan Senior High School prior to being enrolled into the navy last September.

Part-Time Bartenders Under Fire

The Bartenders' Union wants to stop naval personnel picking up off-duty money as waiters in Victoria beer parlors and cocktail lounges.

Local 513 secretary John Henneke has written to naval chief of staff Vice-Admiral H. S. Rayner asking him to keep the navy out of civilian jobs.

"When Admiral Rayner was Flag Officer of the Pacific Fleet," he said, "he gave a directive, on our request, that navy personnel couldn't take civilian jobs."

"We want him to stand by that."

AGGRAVATED

Mr. Henneke said the employment situation is grave, and is being aggravated by naval NCOs and ratings working up to 36 hours a week in beer parlors and cocktail lounges.

He said there about 30 of them working in Victoria. "Employers prefer them because there is no MSA and unemployment insurance," he said.

There are only 21 houses in Victoria, and 138 union members. We have 150 part-time men out of work."

Hourly rate for waiters is $1.72, he said. A chief petty officer earns $535 a month in the navy, but still works as a waiter.

Rear-Admiral W. M. Landy recently told Mr. Henneke that naval authorities "may not intervene with service personnel engaging in civil employment in their off-duty hours unless, in the opinion of the man's commanding officer, such employment is likely to be detrimental to the interests of the RCN."

FROSTBITERS OUT IN FORCE ON WEEKEND

Close to 100 small craft will spread their sails in Cadboro Bay this weekend for the biggest frostbite series ever held in the Pacific Northwest.

Between 50 and 60 Davidson-class boats are expected for the inter-city series, entered from Royal Vancouver, West Vancouver and Royal Victoria Yacht Clubs.

In the smaller Sabot-class 40 boats are expected, from Kitsilano Yacht Club, Hollyburn Sailing Club, West Vancouver, Nanaimo, Maple Bay, and Royal Victoria Yacht Clubs, and the Royal Canadian Naval Sailing Association Esquimalt Squadron.

Series races will be held from noon to nearly dark Saturday, and from 10 a.m. to about 1 p.m. Sunday.

FIRE GUTS 40-FOOT CRUISER

A fire which broke out aboard the 40-foot cruiser Romax VI at McKay-Cormack Ltd. Shipyard at 2 a.m. today left the boat still floating but gutted from stern to stern.

Although no estimate of damage has been made, it is believed the cruiser will be written off as a complete loss.

The fire apparently broke out in the galley and spread quickly throughout the boat.

The owner, Walter Mothersell, has been living aboard. He left the boat to drive some friends to their home. On his return, when he opened the door to the main cabin he was greeted with a burst of flame.

Mr. Mothersell called city firemen who quelled the blaze but not before the interior of the boat was burned away.

They were able to prevent the fire from spreading to other boats moored nearby, and to a marine gas station about 50 feet away.

New Law Asked To Protect B.C. Parklands

Resources Parley Under Way Here

Protection of British Columbia's parklands by legislation was urged here today by Dr. William C. Gibson, formerly of Victoria, who is now head of the department of history of medicine and science at UBC.

"Any new act of our legislature relating to parklands will need all the teeth that can be put into it if the public interest is to be protected."

Addressing the 15th B.C. Natural Resources Conference which opened at the Empress Hotel this morning, Dr. Gibson said:

"The sudden burst of enthusiasm for park development from people not known for their interest in recreation or conservation forces me to ask the question, 'Are these people interested in seeing what they can do for parks, or what parks can do for them?'"

"OLD AS LIFE"

"This so-called resource development is seen to be no simple technical problem, but rather one involving a conflict of interests as old as human life itself."

Dr. Gibson, who was educated at Victoria High School and Victoria College, said B.C. is the envy of many parts of the world because of its great natural wealth.

"There is a sense, however, in which the more discerning of our admirers wonder what our future is once this wealth is exhausted."

Some people, he said, tend to look upon "development" as synonymous with "destruction," forgetting that "the day of the carpetbagger is gone" and sound conservation methods are needed to protect B.C.'s natural heritage.

CALL ON KIERNAN

After Dr. Gibson's address, a spokesman for the B.C. Natural Resources Conference said a delegation will call on Mines and Recreation Minister Kenneth Kiernan in his office on Thursday at 11:30 a.m. to discuss his recent proposal that some B.C. parklands should be logged.

More than 200 delegates from many parts of B.C., and a few from Eastern Canada, are attending the three-day conference which was opened by Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes.

Giving the keynote address, John R. Bradfield, Toronto, president of Noranda Mines Ltd., said the federal government of Canada is doing more for development of the mineral industry than "the collective efforts" of all the provincial governments.

"Provincial mines ministers hold a conference every year in different cities and resort centers. There is much good fellowship and exchange of ideas, but very few constructive programs materialize from these meetings."

"Yet there is tremendous scope for mineral resource development in Canada if our provinces provide the proper encouragement."

Mr. Bradfield said he was deeply concerned over the attitude of some labor leaders towards resource development.

"Higher labor costs not only put the brakes on healthy growth, they will cause us to stagnate and eventually die economically if we cannot hold our own in world markets."

"Labor and taxes are the two items which, by far, make up the greatest part of the price of most items by the time they reach the consumer."

Korean War Veteran Cayuga Heading for Shipbreakers

One of the best-known destroyers to serve on the West Coast will lose her White Ensign and the prefix "HMCS" Thursday.

HMCS Cayuga, which saw distinguished service in Korean waters and was attached to the RCN Pacific Command from 1948 to 1959, will be advertised for sale by the War Assets Corporation, and undoubtedly will wind up under the ship breaker's hammer.

16-Storey Hotel Plan Unveiled

Permits to build a 15-storey high-rise office block and a 16-storey hotel-apartment block almost kitty-corner from each other in the Douglas-Humboldt area will be sought from city council Thursday.

Lawyer E. A. Popham today revealed the 16-storey project plans for a triangular site bounded by Penwell, Humboldt and Burdett with one corner touching Douglas where a dry-cleaning store now stands.

The 15-storey project is the previously publicized "twin-tower office building" designed by John Di Castri for Lochearn Investments Ltd. of Edmonton which bought the old Woodward's department store at Douglas and Courtenay recently.

PERMISSION

Council permission is needed for construction of any building in the downtown core higher than six storeys.

Mr. Popham said the hotel-apartment building is being designed by E. W. Morrison and Associates of Vancouver for a recently incorporated Victoria company named Executive House Ltd. which will carry out the development "as soon as plans are completed."

He said cost of the project "will be in excess of $1,250,000."

SPLIT-LEVEL

Ground floor will be a split-level to conform to the sloping, pie-shaped property at the foot of Cathedral Hill containing a lobby, banquet room, restaurant, office and store space, barber and beauty shop.

The next two floors will contain 32 hotel rooms and the remaining 12 stories will be taken up "with moderately-priced apartment suites," said Mr. Popham. There will be parking for 127 cars.

Encephalitis Shots Given B.C. Horses

A province-wide vaccination of horses against sleeping sickness has been launched at the request of the B.C. agriculture department.

The action was taken after a nine-year-old boy was taken to hospital in Trail with suspected encephalitis—sleeping sickness.

Agriculture Minister Frank Richter said today that a horse in the East Kootenays was found to have the disease late last year.

TWO SHOTS

Instructions have gone out to all veterinary surgeons to start a series of two vaccinations for horses.

The disease can be spread by insects, such as mosquitoes and horseflies, Mr. Richter said.

The vaccination program should be completed before the insects start to breed—late in March.

NOT PROVED

It has not been proved that the boy at Trail has the disease, Mr. Richter said, but all precautionary measures are being taken.

"Although there may be no danger on Vancouver Island, we feel that a stitch in time saves nine," he added.

Vets charge about $3.25 for two vaccinations for each horse, he said, which the owner has to pay.

The horse that died last year with encephalitis may have come from the Prairies where there was an outbreak last year, Mr. Richter said.

New Life Given HMCS Malahat In Naden Quarters

The naval reserve establishment at Victoria will remain in operation, but not in its former headquarters in the old customs building on Wharf Street.

The department of national defence announced today that HMCS Malahat would not be closed down as announced late last year but would operate from HMCS Naden, Esquimalt.

The reserve establishment at Halifax has also been granted a reprieve. Decision has been deferred on whether to close reserve units at Edmonton, Regina, London and Kitchener.

E. D. Hollet of North Battleford, Sask., also lost a fur coat when his car was rifled.

It was recovered by police Tuesday lying beside the road at Rockland and Gonzales.

In court today Eugene Lukoski, 13, of 7 Princess Ave., and Donald Rolph, 20, of 816 Linden, were both remanded without plea until next Monday.

The two were jointly charged with stealing a camera and with having possession of a stolen camera. Bail was set for each of them at $300.

Fire Damages Lakeside Motel On Salt Spring

A fire Tuesday badly damaged the East Motel, a fishing resort at St. Mary's Lake on Salt Spring Island.

No one was injured. Two motel units were gutted and a third damaged.

The island's volunteer fire brigade prevented the fire from spreading to a fourth unit.

The cause of the fire has not been determined. Mr. and Mrs. M. B. East are the owners.

Quick Arrest Faces Deported Bail-Skipper

A 60-year-old Victoria man who has been deported from Australia will be arrested by police even before he steps ashore in Vancouver March 6.

Joseph Calve is wanted by police for skipping bail in 1961.

Detective Sergeant Bill Andrews will board the Ss. Orca before it docks at Vancouver, put Calve under arrest and bring him here to stand trial.

Calve was charged in 1961 with unlawfully converting about $2,000 cash. He was released on $2,000 bail but failed to appear for his trial.

City police searched for him but could find no trace. Then, some weeks ago, they learned he was in Australia and was going to be deported from there.

AN INTERESTING DEVELOPMENT!

Two city policemen literally developed the evidence that resulted in two youths being charged in city court today.

The evidence: a roll of film found in the youth's car when police stopped it after a high-speed chase through the city centre early Tuesday.

Police found the roll in a camera in the car. A similar looking camera was later reported stolen but its owner could not identify the one found by police as being his.

Police opened the camera, found a roll of film wound up inside. The roll was developed and printed in the police laboratory and the owner of the stolen camera recognized photos he had taken of his grandchildren.

CHASED CAR

Constables Murray MacArthur and Doug Wilson had chased the car through downtown Victoria after spotting it shortly after 3 a.m. Tuesday. They stopped and searched it, finding the camera under a seat.

The owner of the camera,

LISTON'S PURSE HELD UP

PUNCH that may have won Tuesday night's heavyweight championship fight is seen here. Cassius Clay lands right to Sonny Liston's left shoulder in early round. In succeeding rounds Liston's left arm went numb and at the end of the sixth he couldn't lift the injured member and threw in the towel to start the seventh. Liston today said he hurt the shoulder throwing a left hook in the first round. (AP Wirephoto.)

Ex-Champion's
Injury Probed

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—State Attorney Richard Gerstein launched an investigation today into Cassius Clay's surprise heavyweight title victory over the heavily favored Sonny Liston here Tuesday night.

He announced, "I have asked the Miami Beach Boxing Commission to make available all records and medical papers relating to Liston."

Clay, a 7-1 underdog, won on a seventh round technical knockout at the Miami Beach Convention Hall when Liston was unable to answer the bell for the seventh round because of an injured left shoulder.

Gerstein said the Miami Beach Boxing Commission records and papers will be turned over to the county medical examiner "to determine if there is justification for further investigation."

He expected to get the records within the next 24 hours.

Gerstein emphasized that the Florida state law provides a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison for anyone convicted of altering the outcome of an athletic contest.

Gerstein's announcement was made at almost the same time when the new 22-year-old champion from Louisville was holding a news conference in the veterans hall of the same convention hall where he scored his amazing triumph.

'I Just Do It for the Money'

Clay said jokingly, "I'm talking about retiring now. I don't like to fight. I don't like to hit and get hit. I just do it for the money. Sugar Ray Robinson never liked it either."

Robinson, a former welterweight and middleweight champion, was with Cassius when Cassius put on his wacky weigh-in act Tuesday and was fined $2,500 by the boxing commission for disorderly conduct.

Clay's remarks about retiring brought laughter from sportswriters who recalled that he fought more than 150 amateur bouts—for fun—and won the Olympic light-heavyweight championship in 1960.

Cassius said he may remain in Miami Beach, for about a week and then rest for a couple more weeks before deciding on the future.

The Miami Beach commission withheld the $250,000 "live gate" portion of Liston's money pending the report of two orthopedic surgeons appointed by the commission to examine Liston today.

The surgeons' report was expected later in the day. Tuesday night, a team of eight doctors at St. Francis Hospital said that Liston had suffered injury sufficient to justify termination of the bout.

Sonny Says He Wanted to Continue

Liston said today that he begged to continue the fight but was overruled by his handlers.

"At the end of the sixth round Willie Reddish told me to keep my left up high," the crestfallen one-time ring destroyer told a press conference.

"I said I couldn't. He said 'I'm going to stop the fight.' 'I said no' but they stopped the fight anyhow."

Liston was a pathetic figure when he appeared before newsmen with his left arm in an informal sling made of a blue and white scarf. He wore dark glasses and mumbled as he talked.

The former champion said he hurt his arm when he threw a left hook in the first round. "I felt a twinge—I knew my arm went out," he said. "My whole glove felt heavy like it was full of water. When I tried to raise my arm it felt like lead."

Liston said he felt sure he would have caught up with Clay and knocked him out had it not been for the unusual injury.

Liston was reluctant to give his conqueror much credit for the tainted victory.

"I don't think he is as good as for instance Eddie Machen or Zora Folley," Sonny said. "He didn't put up as good a fight as Patterson."

New Union Proposal
Given to Shipyards

Striking shipyard unions have presented to the "big three" companies their latest proposal for strike settlement.

The proposal, made this morning in Vancouver through mediator Reg Clements, chief conciliation officer, was first made in the early stages of the union-management negotiations prior to the sitting of a conciliation board last year.

The unanimous conciliation offer, rejected in December by the unions, provided for a three-year contract with wage increases of 25-cents plus a two-cent contributory welfare scheme in the second year.

The new proposal asks a two-year contract with increases each year of 15 cents.

It seeks a welfare plan to be set up immediately on signing of the agreement, with $2,500 death benefits and $40 per week sickness benefits.

The proposal also asks three weeks vacation after 10 years. Company representatives were not present, but the pro-

RUSS WHEAT LOADING
STARTS ON WEEKEND

WASHINGTON (AP)—Waterfront unions are ready to resume loading ships with U.S. wheat for Russia by the end of the week after ending a 10-day boycott.

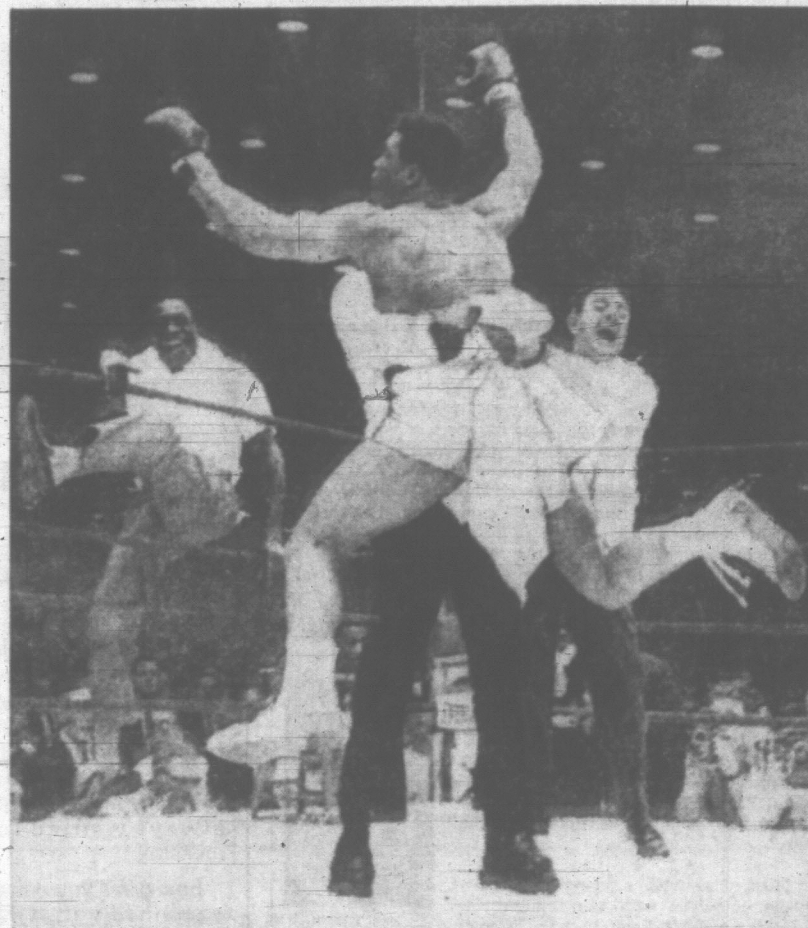

The White House announced late Tuesday that the unions had agreed to load the wheat after President Johnson pledged that—in all future grain deals with Russia—half of the cargo would be carried in U.S. ships.

There'll be a lot more wrenched shoulders t'day, with bettors cryin' on 'em.

So Liston is humbled at th' feet of Clay.

Some day we'll hev t' choose b'tween roses an' high rises.

HOUSE

By Arthur Mayse

One danger of forensics is that the orator may end his pitch with foot in mouth, and this all but befell a high-spirited premier and minister of finance on Tuesday evening.

"The rich grow richer," declared The Hon. William Andrew Cecil Bennett, "and the poor...uh...ah..."

"...grow poorer," supplied Cranbrook NDP Leo Nimsick helpfully.

"Everybody richer and nobody poorer," Mr. Bennett finished, his stride recovered. "That's Social Credit philosophy!"

Apart from the one near-contretemps, the premier's sword-dance above his party's trophies was executed with vim and skill enough to elicit a sardonic "Hallelujah!" from one NDP listener, and from North Van logger Liberal Gordon Gibson, a sotto voce growl:

What a Blast!

"Judas Priest... what a blast!" We are estimates now—the apportioning to departments and services of the flumping $395 million-plus budget. If this third phase of parliament's deliberations moves as expected, members will end their session on March 13, which this year happens to fall with sinister impact upon a Friday.

There is, however, a good deal of troubled water still to flow under the bridge; and before the House rises, we may see what started as a minor issue flare into a major tussle.

This is the projected logging of Strathcona Park's fir stands, a move which a log-hungry plywood industry has urged on a hitherto-resistant government for years.

RED CHINA REPORT

In Malnutrition
Evidence Lacking

WASHINGTON (CP)—Dr. Wilder Penfield, famed Montreal neurosurgeon, says he has seen no evidence of malnutrition in Red China.

Instead, he has found the Chinese have made great progress in eradicating disease, with hospitals and medical schools that are "absolutely first class."

"The Chinese may not have too much to eat but they have enough to maintain a vigorous life," Dr. Penfield added Tuesday as he addressed a selected group of U.S. correspondents, editorial writers and commentators.

With him were Dr. Denis Lazure, director of child psychiatry at Montreal's L'Hopital Sainte-Justine, and Dr. Geoffrey C. Andrew, executive director of the Canadian Universities Foundation, Ottawa.

The three Canadians, all of whom made trips to the mainland in recent years, are delivering a number of talks in this capital as part of an international seminar sponsored by the American Friends Service Committee, a Quaker organization.

GOING TO CHINA is former Tory agriculture minister Alvin Hamilton. He said today he had received and accepted an invitation from the Chinese committee for the promotion of international trade.

Dr. Lazure said he saw something strikingly similar between the youth of the U.S. and Red China—both were strong conformists.

Dr. Andrew said he was mainly impressed with the puritan nature of Chinese society, rather than its Communist fabric. He also felt the exodus of Russian technicians had slowed China's technological advance.

At one point in his travels, he noted the Chinese had built huge irrigation systems but had failed to measure the historical pattern of rainfall in that area so that ditches were half-filled or completely dry.

The old sense of isolation, often associated with China, was fast disappearing. In medicine, the Chinese were making use of a lot of Western ideas and were constantly in search of the latest medical information, Dr. Penfield said.

Dr. Lazure, studying the impact of the communes on social life, said Chinese children showed little anti-social behavior. Their rigid and clear-cut training gave them a clear understanding of what society expected of them. There appeared to be no problem of juvenile delinquency. A shift of the child's allegiance from parents to the state carried with it no feeling of hostility towards the parents.

Rather, he said, the younger generation seemed to feel sorry that the older folks didn't have the same opportunities for reconstruction now being undertaken.

GIRL OF 'GREAT COURAGE'

Blind Kathy Really 'Sees'

The late president John F. Kennedy wrote her of his admiration for her abilities.

Mayor Erastus Corning II of Albany has called her "a credit to the city."

But you can judge for yourself.

Kathy is 17 and editor of the student newspaper at Mercy High School here.

She is an avid swimmer and bowls, water skis, ice-skates, plays musical instruments and sings.

A life-long acquaintance described Kathy's personality as "electric." Another said he had "never seen her depressed."

On weekend dates, the pert brunette likes nothing better than a trip to the movies or a basketball or football game.

"And I haven't missed a school dance in four years," Kathy said during an interview.

Kathy has been blind since birth.

Corning, who has known her since she was two, explained how Kathy inspired him to develop in-community educational facilities for the blind. Until recently, blind children in Albany had to travel to Rome, N.Y., or to neighboring states to school, he said.

CREDIT TO CITY

"Kathy's courage and ability to learn got me interested in the problem of education for the blind and, in fact, all handicapped children."

She's a credit to her family and a credit to the city."

Kathy has helped to advance the cause of the sick and the handicapped in other ways.

Each of the last four years, she has spent a day at the Albany Medical Centre Hospital answering questions for a battery of doctors. She attempts to tell the doctors how she "sees" a new formal gown, or a love scene in a movie or a touchdown run.

Frequently, she spends time in hospital wards reading to the children from her braille story books. Or she may play the piano or organ, if one is handy, or sing or play her harmonica or accordion.

"She's so talented, so gifted in music... and her personality is just... just electric!" said a neighbor, Mrs. Cora Stevenson, who has known Kathy since birth.

Kathy is taking a pre-college course in school and hopes to become an English teacher one day.

"I used to have a steady boy friend," Kathy said cheerfully, "but there's just too much else to do right now."

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

CPR publicity man Ed MacPherson has struck a mighty blow for Victoria in general and the Empress Hotel and Undersea Gardens in particular.

Working through the CPR's New York office, Ed arranged to have detailed descriptions of Victoria's attractions given to Amy Vanderbilt, author of the column "Etiquette," a United Features Syndicate release which appears in 140 newspapers in the United States, Canada, and Latin America.

He also sent a generous supply of tourist brochures, among them one featuring the Undersea Gardens, the Oak Bay attraction where denizens of the deep are on display.

As a result, Miss Vanderbilt's entire March 2 column is devoted to B.C.'s Capital.

Some sample comments: "The climate of Victoria is exceptional... It is a leisurely place with beautiful gardens which even this month will be blooming... there is a new attraction in Victoria which you must be sure to visit—the Undersea Gardens, the only such gardens in the world..."

For a "plug" like that, one could almost forgive Ed for living in Vancouver, instead of Victoria, where his heart is.

Central Saanich council may become the recipient of one of the most "intoxicating" tables in British Columbia.

Coun. Ray Lamont will look into the possibility of making a table from redwood bathed in wine for years.

"The wood polishes beautifully," he said.

His plan is to use the staves of dismantled wine vats for the table.

The vats belonged to Growers' Wine Ltd., of Saanich. They were dismantled to make room for more up-to-date storage tanks.

The wood was given to the Lamont family which played a leading part in the formation of the company years ago.

Councillors are elated at the possibility of sitting around a table made of wood matured in the juice of one of the municipality's major products—loganberries.

Dropped into one of the leading eateries for lunch—one of the spots that caters to the motoring visitor. We couldn't see through the water glasses. Our plate was chipped and the silverware covered with a dull film. We won't go back.

We wonder what the effect is on the U.S. tourist. And we wonder how this situation could exist if our health department is on its toes.

The manager wasn't in, but the cashier agreed with our complaint, blaming it all on the detergent. Hardly good enough for a tourist-conscious community.

Was Lois Haggen, M.L.A. for Grand Forks-Greenwood, asked to join the "fitness by cycling" campaign organized last week by fellow members of the Legislative Assembly?

"Indeed I was asked," Mrs. Haggen answers, "and I said I'd join the group if Mr. Peterson would prove he really was the Minister of Labor by pulling my bicycle around Beacon Hill Park."

"So far, he hasn't accepted my challenge."

Most of us, when envying millionaires, console ourselves with the thought that at least we don't have to pay their income tax. But pity the man whose taxable income is a mere dollar ($1).

He has to pay all of that dollar in federal income tax. Then he has to pay ten cents in provincial tax. Which should remind us all that the Ides of March are coming and the tax collectors are getting fat.

Missile Ring Blamed For Gloom in China

The atmosphere generated by Western armed force encircling China is one of the most depressing things about life in the Orient, says a professor who recently visited there.

Professor C. S. Burchill, head of the history department at Royal Roads, was speaking at a Tuesday noon meeting of the Canadian Club.

"We can hardly imagine the psychological pressure experienced on China by missile bases in Formosa, Japan and Korea, and by the U.S. Navy's Seventh Fleet patrolling the China coast," said Prof. Burchill.

U-2 TRESPASSING

He added that U-2 high-flying aircraft from Formosa often trespass on Chinese airspace.

"This creates a very disagreeable irritation to the Chinese," he said.

Prof. Burchill and his wife spent three weeks in China during August of last year.

He illustrated Tuesday's talk with slides he took during his visit.

NEW CONTACT

Prof. Burchill told club members:

"There is relatively little reliable information coming out of China. We need to recover something of the contact we used to have."

"From Canada's point of view, the logic of geography means trade and relations around a Pacific base."

"We cannot ignore 650 million people in that trade area."

Prof. Burchill warned his opinions were "dependent entirely on what I saw and what I was told."

He said:

"China's population for the last thousand years has been like one of those colonies of fruitflies biologists keep in bottles."

"It is unfair to compare China with any western nation."

"For practically all this century, China has been in a disturbed state."

"This has made it particularly difficult for China to rise above the low standard of living it has endured for a thousand years."

Piles of Lumber Annoy Residents

City council Tuesday decided to await written complaints from residents of the Dallas Road-Dook Street area where lumber was being piled near their homes on a rented lot opposite Ogden Point.

There were indications the complaints would be sent to both the public works committee and the health committee to see if anything could be done to stop it.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood said he had been phoned by two irate householders in the area who said the lumber was being piled during the night by Western Lumber Carriers Limited and was affecting health because it interfered with sleep. He added that the lumber was a hazard to playing children.

Mayor R. B. Wilson said he had been contacted and had asked for a complaint to be submitted in writing. Council deferred action until receipt of the letter.

A lumber company official indicated it would continue using the lot for overflow storage at Ogden Point docks because "it's industrial property and that's all there is to it."

U.S. SHIPPER MOVES INTO ALASKA ROUTE

SEATTLE (AP) — Plans for extension of intercoastal steamship service to Seattle and Alaska were disclosed Tuesday when Sea-Land Service Inc. and the Port of Seattle agreed on a lease of more than $2,000,000 worth of terminal facilities.

Sea-Land has taken an option to purchase the Alaska Freight Lines, and a company spokesman said they hoped to set up an Alaska service within two or three months. It now operates between Elizabeth, N.J., and California.

The port will invest more than $500,000 to put almost 10 acres of space in shape for Sea-Land. Sea-Land will take a 20-year lease, paying $85,000 to $150,000 a year, depending on tonnage moved.
